Strike Layoffs Growing

Close to 1,100,000 Idle By Next Week Unless Break Comes In Steel Shutdown

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Unemployment resulting from the great steel strike of 1952 will be close to 1,100,000 next week unless there's an unexpected break in the paralyzing nation-wide shutdown throttling the industrial heart of America.

A big spurt in unemployment will come when Chrysler Corp. closes virtually all of its extensive Michigan operations. The corporation says the shutdown will affect about 68,000 workers although 14,500 will be recalled to take inventory.

Chrysler Closing a Blow

The Chrysler shutdown comes as another blow to the big state of Michigan, where auto production has been cut 70 per cent. An estimated 100,000 workers in Michigan have been affected by the steel strike. Ford Motor Company already has shut down its assembly plants across the nation and General Motors has laid off thousands in its huge factory network.

In addition to the 600,000 steelworkers idle, another 422,000 in allied industries have been laid off as a result of the strike.

No Sign of an End

While there's no sign of an end to the strike, called June 2, the CIO United Steelworkers awaited word from the industry on a proposal to agree to resumption of iron ore production.

Executives of 10 large steel producing companies, after meeting in New York Tuesday, said they would ask the steelworkers to end the companion strike of 23,000 ore miners in Minnesota, Michigan and Wisconsin.

Officials of the steel industry fear shutdowns next winter becaus of a shortage of iron ore. They're afraid they can't build up stockpiles because iron ore won't be shipped on the Grat Lakes during the winter.

No Request for Iron Ore

This came from a source close to Philip Murray, head of the steelworkers union:

"We have not received a formal request from the industry concerning the iron ore situation. We have nothing to say on the matter now."

There is absolutely no indication of further negotiations to break the impasse, which is centered around the union's demand that a new contract embody a union shop whereby all steelworkers will be required to join the union.

Clarence B. Randall, president of Inland Steel Company, issued a statement that his company is "trying to persuade employers everywhere to resist the union shop demands."

"Common Sense" to Resist

Replying to union conspiracy charges against the nation's six largest stel producers, Randall said "common sense" requires the firms to co-operate in resisting union shop demands.

"I have consulted frequently with executives of other steel companies," he said. "I have never surrendered my independence of action, and have nev otke mh e sdar surrender theirs. But I have been greatly encouraged by their determination also to resist the 'union shop.'"

Randall, who said no law forbids steel companies from standing together on the union shop issue, declared the government has forced steel companie to act together.

Tinplate Held for Foods

As the strike continued, the National Production Authority ordered Weirton Steel Company at Weirton, W. Va., to channel its entire tinplate output to makers of cans for perishable foods.

Adams Murder Trial Starts At Warrensburg

Charged In Fatal Shooting of Daughter At Knob Noster Farm

Everett E. Adams, 69, Knob Noster farmer charged with first degree murder in connection with the fatal shooting of Miss Dorothy Adams, his daughter, early the morning of May 1, has gone on trial for the killing. The case began early Thursday with the selection of a jury which was completed shortly before noon in the Johnson County Circuit Court at Warrensburg.

The jury hearing the case is composed of Walter Offenbrink, Grover Township; Murray S. Jackson, Kenneth Middleton, both of Columbus Township; Tom Mooney, J. E. Roberts, R. W. Conard and A. H. Daldrup, of the Holden area; J. O. Burden, Lawrence West, both of Warrensburg; Ira C. Brooks and Gordon L. Shafer of Jackson Township, and Guy Ferguson of Jefferson Township.

Fifteen additional names were called to jury service along with the regular panel of 25. When the case opened attorneys began first scratching any names which appeared from the vicinity of the Knob Noster community.

Gayles R. Pine and Roy A. Jones, both of Warrensburg, are the attorneys for the defendant. The case is being handled for the state by Prosecuting Attorney John Mittendorf.

Judge Phil H. Cook, Lexington, is hearing the case. Judge Cook is sitting for Judge James R. Garrison, who recently suffered a heart attack.

Adams is charged with firing the gun which resulted in the fatal wounds suffered by his daughter. The incident occurred early in the morning after what was reported to have been a drinking party at the Adams home. Since the killing, Adams has been held in the Johnson County jail in default of a $10,000 bond.

The shooting took place at the Adams farm, which is located about 4½ miles southwest of Knob Noster.

Michigan Prison Warden Ousted After Big Riots

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — Warden Julian N. Frisbie, 60-year-old retired Marine brigadier general, was ousted today from his job as head of Southern Michigan Prison, scene of two bloody riots in recent weeks.

Corrections Commissioner Earnest C. Brooks made the announcement after conference with Gov. G. Mennen Williams at Lansing. Brooks said: "The reason for the change is that Warden Frisbie has not succeeded in getting the prison under control after the April riot."

William H. Bann, present deputy warden of Ionia State reformatory, was named to succeed Frisbie. There was no immediate comment from the ousted warden.

The big Michigan prison was the scene of a bloody, 92-hour riot in April in which eight guards were held as hostages, a prisoner killed and more than a million dollars damage done.

A lesser flareup occurred Sunday night with one convict wounded by state police as they strove to free two guard hostages held for a short while by rioting prisoners.

Studying Toll Roll Near Mo.

Legislators Told Oklahoma Considers Building Turnpike Up to State Line

JEFFERSON CITY, (AP) — Missouri legislators were told today studies already are under way on the possibility of building a toll road from Tulsa, Okla., to the Missouri state line.

W. D. Hoback, chief engineer of the Oklahoma Turnpike Authority, said preliminary work is being done on the proposal but it is still a long way from a decision.

He and M. L. Cline, comptroller for the Oklahoma Authority, agreed the Oklahoma project might be speeded up if Missouri decided to build a toll road from St. Louis southwest across the state, parallelling U. S. 66.

Gives Survey of Route

Hoback gave a special legislative committee a brief survey of the Oklahoma City-Tulsa Turnpike now being built. He said the 88-mile toll road is scheduled for completion by next January, when an estimated 2,800 vehicles a day are expected to use it. The route parallells the present U. S. 66. It is expected to save 65 minutes travel time between the two cities.

The road is being built with the money from revenue bond issues totaling $38,000,000 . It was authorized by an act passed by the 1947 session of the Oklahoma legislature.

Separate From Highway Dept.

Sen. William M. Quinn (D) of Maywood is chairman of the special house-senate committee which started hearings yesterday. He brought out in questions that the Oklahoma Turnpike Authority is entirely separate from the state highway department. The department, however, has veto power over the route.

Cline said there had been no serious conflicts between the authority and the highway department.

As he did yesterday, Quinn emphasized that the Missouri legislature would not want to do anything to interfere with the ten-year, $557,000,000 road improvement program set up by the last legislature.

President Signs Military Fund For Build-up

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman signed into law today a bill providing 46½ billion dollars for the nation's military build-up in the year that ends next June 30. The measure supplies the money to raise this country's Air Force to a formidable 143 wings by mid-1955.

The total sum given the Defense Department was about five billions under what the President had asked. He told Congress the Defense Department would need nearly 51½ billions as a bare minimum for its "stretch-out" preparedness program.

The bill also provides for:

1. Payment of $45 a month in extra combat pay for servicemen on duty under fire since the Korean War began. A minimum of six days in the combat area is required for each month's eligibility.

2. Authorization for the Navy to build a second 65,000-ton super aircraft carrier. The bill did not, however, supply any new funds for building the carrier.

In the pre-adjournment rush Congress agreed on a total of $46,610,938,912. Truman asked $51,390,709,770 for the year beginning July 1.

Ike-Taft Lines Hold In Mo. Delegation

CHICAGO, (AP) — The Eisenhower-Taft lines in the Missouri delegation held firm today as the Republican convention reached the nominating stage — with the general leading in delegates for the first time.

The Missourians cast 21 votes for the Eisenhower side against five for Taft's stand on the Georgia delegate contest, which Eisenhower forces won 607-531.

The result of the Georgia conput Eisenhower in a position to take the delegate lead when the Texas squabble was settled by acclamation in his favor.

Opposing the Eisenhower forces were James Fitzgerald, Oregon; L. W. Hoover, Princeton; C. A. Powell, Dexter; William B. Houston, Kirksville and Rex Henson, Poplar Bluff. All are backing Taft for the nomination.

The other 21 delegates who backed Eisenhower forces in the Georgia test are regarded as favoring the general for the nomination.

Sidelights and Highlights of Convention—

May Begin Nominating Candidate Tonite--Its In Hands of the Gods

BULLETIN

CONVENTION HALL, CHICAGO (AP)—Walter S. Hallanan, temporary chairman of the Republican national convention, said today the convention probably will not start balloting on presidential candidates until tomorrow.

CHICAGO (AP)—The Republican national convention may get down to its most important business — nominating a candidate for president — tonight.

But nobody can say for sure.

The GOP National Committee has an office which normally announces program details in advance. A spokesman reported late this morning that balloting on the nomination may start tonight — "but it's in the lap of the gods."

That indicated the delegates will make the decision.

The program for today now includes these events in the order given after the call to order and national anthem.

Installation of the permanent chairman, Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr., of Massachusetts.

Report of the Rules Committee.

Report of the Resolutions (Platform) Committee.

Then a series of speeches.

The National Committee information office said the nominating speeches will be made tonight. Then, it added, the delegates may start their balloting.

That will be followed by the nomination of a candidate for vice president. The target time for that now is tomorrow.

But the convention is running behind its original schedule and when it will end is anybody's guess.

Civil Rights Plank Bridges N-S Gap

CHICAGO (AP) — Party leaders hoped to gt quick convention approval today for a patchwork civil rights plank designed to bridge sharp differences between Southern and Northern Republicans.

Most delegates, who battled long and hard within the Resolutions Committee over the delicate racial issue, wanted to avoid a convention floor battle.

And both sides agred that the new plank, dealing with federal action on the subjects of lynching, poll taxes, segregation and discrimination, was not as strong as the one in the 1948 platform.

Four years ago the Republicans favored "enactment and just enforcement of such federal legislation as may be necessary" to maintain equal opportunity for jobs and advancement despite differences of "race, religion, color, or country of origin."

This time the platform promises "federal legislation to further just and equitable treatment in the area of discriminatory employment practices."

That is broad, so at the request of Southerners this was added:

"Federal action should not duplicate state efforts to end such practices; should not set up another huge buraucracy."

Most Southerners, including Republicans, believe racial problems are best handled on a state or local level without federal interference.

Foreign Policy Dedicated to Peace

CHICAGO (AP) — The Republican convention was asked today to adopt a platform vowing a foreign policy of "enlightened self-interest" to win peace and free enslaved peoples.

"We dedicate ourselves to wage peace and to win it," says the foreign policy plank of the 1952 platform approved by the Resolutions Committee for convention action.

The plank, containing a scathing rebuke of the Democratic administration as having "no foreign policy," was cleared by both top contenders for the GOP presidential nomination.

It was designed as a compromise of their views.

It agrees with Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's stand for world collective security to resist Communist aggression, plus a "positive"—rather than a "containment'—program against the Reds.

It also coincides with Sen. Robert A. Taft's insistence that the United States must build a strong Air Force to defend itself and discourage any Communist thrusts.

Warren Still Mum On Way He'll Shift

CHICAGO (AP) — What's Earl Warren going to do?

The big California governor sat back today with votes enough to influence the Republican nomination for president importantly — if not decisively — and waited to see what develops.

He kept supporters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Sen. Robert A. Taft on edge. They were wondering whether Warren will free his 76 delegates as soon as balloting begins or hold on in hopes of a deadlock.

Warren — who says he'd rather be governor than vice president — indicated clearly he won't release the 70 California and six Wisconsin delegates pledged to his presidential-nomination candidacy until at least the second ballot.

If and when that time comes, he is expected to throw his support to Eisenhower.

Nomination Speech For Ike Is Ready

CHICAGO, (AP) — Governor Theodore R. McKeldwin of Maryland, who will make the speech placing Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in nomination, told newsmen this much about it today:

1. It's 15 minutes long.
2. It starts with something from the scriptures and ends with something from Light Horse Harry Lee.

He said he had shown the speech to the general and that he liked it.

every state.

Taft's Name Probably Will Be Placed First

CONVENTION HALL, CHICAGO (AP)—Barring last-minute changes, Senator Robert A. Taft will be the first to be placed in nomination for the presidency here.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who moved out in front of Taft in the delegate count today, will be the third man nominated.

Here's how it shapes up:

Alabama, first to be called on the alphabetical rollcall, will yield to Illinois so that state's Senator Everett C. Dirksen can nominate Taft.

California will nominate its own favorite son candidate, Gov. Earl Warren.

Then Colorado will yield to Maryland, whose Gov. Theodore Roosevelt McKeldin will put Eisenhower's name before the national convention.

McKeldin Predicts First Ballot Ike Win

CHICAGO (AP)—Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland predicted t day Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower dential nomination on the first ballot.

McKeldin, who will place the general's name in the nomination at the GOP national convention, declared he is confident Maryland's 24 votes will be cast unanimously for Eisenhower.

On the Associated Press scoreboard Maryland now lines up 13 Eisenhower, 7 Taft and 4 uncommitted.

His forecasts to nwsmen came as he left a confrence with the general.

Mr. Romany, Puerto Rican, New Hero of GOP Delegates

CHICAGO (AP) — The Republican Party has a new hero — and his name isn't Eisenhower or Taft,

He's the man who gave the tension - ridden GOP convention its first big relaxing belly laugh. He put some honest fun into the deadly serious politics here.

His name is Senor Marcelino Romany of Santurce, Puerto Rico. In less time than it takes to click a castenet, Senor Romany changed the atmosphere of a national convention from one roaring with rancor to one roaring with laughter.

A great man, the senor, but one w doesn't look like a hero. He's a short, potbellied, 59-year-old lawyer and onetime judge, with his name next to last on the list of 1,206 delegates.

How he came to be a hero is a remarkable story of a remarkable night in the history of the grand old party.

The argument had rolled on and on over which delegation from Georgia should be seated: One favoring Sen. Robert A. Taft or one favoring Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

And then the reading clerk bawled: "Puerto Rico, three votes." Thus began something right out of comic opera.

The reply came back: "Puerto Rico casts three votes no."

The senor moved onstage and stole the show.

He began by demanding that the delegation — all three members — be polled individually — just like New York's 96 and Pennsylvania's 70 had been.

Big discussion on the platform. Was Puerto Rico's delegation in dispute? Could the challenge be made? At last, the answer: Yes.

Incredibly, it must have taken five minutes to call the three names. Because it turned up such complications as this:

"Mrs. Providencia Romas de Villamil," cried the reading clerk.

"What was the name, please?" came the heavily accented voice, as if the place were filled with women with similar names.

"Mrs. Providencia Romas de Villamil," cried the R. C. again.

"It's all right," came the voice from the floor. "She's not here."

Another name was called. Again the voice. "He is a delegate. He is not here."

But the senor won his point. When his name was called, he voted yes. So that which was three noes and no yesses became two noes and one yes. The no votes were cast by the absent delegates' alternates.

In a talk with the senor later I learned, among other things, that while he was a judge he threw all of Gov. Guy Tugwell's cabinet in jail.

Why, I don't know. The fellow who answered talked Spanish.

I asked about the Puerto Rican GOP background.

One delegate announced loudly that he represented the true party there, and instantly all three were hurling Spanish at each other.

Oddly, at the moment this was going on, the convention took up the Puerto Rican delegate dispute and unanimously seated the one which did not include Romany.

But it didn't really matter. From coast to coast, he's still the hero of the party.

Backers of General Believe It's All Over But Balloting

Floor Battle Victories Over Georgia And Texas Zoom Ikemen's Hopes, But Taft Still Says, 'I Expect Nomination'

CONVENTION HALL, CHICAGO (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's jubilant partisans strove today to turn smashing test-vote triumphs over Sen. Robert A. Taft into a victory bandwagon for the grand prize of this Republican convention—the presidential nomination.

They claimed it was all over but the balloting as a result of Eisenhower's decisive edge in the turbulent floor battle with Taft at last night's session — stretching into the early morning — over contested delegates from Georgia and Texas.

Taft was not conceding a thing. He said: "I expect to be nominated on an early ballot."

And supporters of Earl Warren and Harold Stassen said they still saw a chance for an Eisenhower-Taft deadlock that could deny the nomination to either of the two front-runners.

The big decision may come tonight.

Convention managers mapped out a schedule which left that possibility.

And the delegates trickling into this big arena down by the stockyards for their fourth day seemed in a mood to get on with the main business.

In the wake of last night's rough and tumble, there was more talk about Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Some of the Taft supporters were saying privately MacArthur might be a good man if it developed Taft could not make the grade.

Taft's top aides were insisting, however, there was no reason yet to question that Taft could make it.

Paul Walker, chief of delegate relations for Taft's camp, said it was a "coalition" that beat Taft on the Georgia and Texas contests. The Warren and Stassen delegates stood with the Eisenhower camp on that.

Gov. McKeldin of Maryland, tapped to put Eisenhower in nomination, gave the bandwagon effort a push with a prediction the general will win on the first ballot.

He declared he is confident Maryland's 24 votes will be cast unanimously for Eisenhower.

But Maryland's Senator John Marshall Butler, a Taft supporter, told reporters he feels Taft is still in the running.

The California delegation had a caucus and its chairman, Sen. William F. Knowland, told the members to hold their 70-vote line firm for Gov. Earl Warren.

"If we are not swayed by rumor," Knowland said, "we have the opportunity to nominate Earl Warren for president."

That meant, in Knowland's view, a distinct possibility of an Eisenhower-Taft deadlock.

Harold Stassen told a news conference he was staying in the race. He has 25 committed votes.

Stassen had met earlier in the morning with Eisenhower and Taft.

Stassen also said he has plans to meet again Friday morning with both the top contenders for the nomination.

Asked whether any understanding had been arrived at with either Eisenhower or Taft, Stassen said: "There were no understandings, no coalitions, no deals and I will make none with any other."

Around Eisenhower's headquarters in a downtown hotel, there was a general atmosphere of confidence in victory.

Latest Score Card

CHICAGO (AP)—Nine previously uncommitted delegates today came out for Eisenhower. One went to Taft.

At 3:30 p. m. (EST) the AP tabulation on delegates stood this way:

Eisenhower 523.
Taft 487.
Other 110.
Uncommitted 86.
(Needed to nominate, 604).

J. W. Stephens Tells Kiwanians Of MPS Company

A talk on the electric power industry was given by J. W. Stephens, district manager of the Missouri Public Service Company, Lee's Summit, before the Sedalia Kiwanis club meeting in Bothwell Hotel Thursday noon. He was introduced by M. D. Weathers, program choirman.

The speaker is a former Sedalian, was graduated from Smith-Cotton High School, the Missouri School of Mines, Rolla, served as chief electrician in the Navy. He has been with the Missouri Public Service Company for 12 years.

Mr. Stephens called attention to the fact that the Missouri Public Service Company: is serving 23 counties, as a home owned company, unaffiliated with any holding company; is the largest power service company between Kansas City and St. Louis and is the third largest in the state with two main generating plants, in Sedalia and Clinton, serving 58,544 consumers, of which 11,300 are in the rural areas and seven co-operatives. The company pays over a million dollars in taxes to the federal government and $40,000 to the state.

He stressed the important function utilities in private enterprise play in the economic life of the nation.

Guests at the meeting were: Cecil Dump and W. B. Rich with J. C. Griffin and Arthur E. Brown. Kansas City, with Frank Wagner.

Civil Rights Floor Battle Threatened

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago (AP) — Eight Negro delegates and alternates to the Republican convention today threatened a floor fight on civil rights.

Harold C. Burton, delegate from New York's 22nd district, said a civil rights plank submitted as part of the proposed platform was "too weak."

Harmony Plea By Sen. Cain For Fall Win

General Election Will Not Be Won Easily, He Tells Delegates

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago (AP) — Senator Harry P. Cain of Washington told the Republican National Convention today its presidential nominee will face a tough fight in November and the delegates should not abuse him here.

The reference obviously was to the bitter intra-party fighting for the nomination and the harsh words that have been traded by opposing GOP factions.

"We have no assurance now of victory next November," Cain said in an address prepared for today's session. "All we have reason to believe is that victory will not be easy. Under the most favorable circumstances a victory will be difficult to achieve, under adverse circumstancec, which we may create, victory will be impossible.

In a plea for party harmony, Cain said a GOP victory could result if all members of the party "understand what allegiance, loyalty and devotion to the principles of our party really mean."

Because a particular candidate's "every view and act does not coincide with mine or yours is not a legitimate excuse to abuse him here or to fail to support him as our nominee," Cain said. "Each candidate we have is honest, healthy, intelligent, and devoted to the task of keeping America strong and the free world free."

With help from all Republicans, Cain added, the GOP nominee will win, and without that help "he will wallow in the mire of futility."

Cain told the delegates the Republicans "have no monopoly on reliable, good and honest men," and the opposition "can select, though I doubt that they will, a presidential nominee who understands that we help others best by keeping ourselves strong and free, whose ability is obvious, whose understanding of the intentions of communism is clear, whose resistance to the spread of collectivism and state socialism is as strong and determined as yours and mine."

Slaughter Quits US Senate Race

KANSAS CITY, (AP) — Former Congressman Roger C. Slaughter announced today he will withdraw as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for U. S. senator because "support for such a campaign has not been forthcoming."

Slaughter, who was purged from Congress by the President in the 1946 primary election, said he will forward the formal withdrawal to the secretary of state "within the next few days."

He said in a statement:

"I have felt strongly for a long time, and still believe that the issue of corruption and favoritism must be met head-on and eliminated by Democrats. . . .

"I concluded there was a demand for the type of campaign that to me seems essential."

Slaughter went on to say that since there has not been sufficient support, "I concluded that perhaps some other Democrat can do this job more effectively than I." He released pledges of supporters.

Slaughter's withdrawal leaves three candidates in the race for the nomination — J. E. (Buck) Taylor, President Truman's choice, Stuart Symington, former RFC administrator and State Senator John A. Johnson.

Water at High Price In Parched Rangoon

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — Scarce water sold at 30 cents for four gallons in parched Rangoon today. The city's pipelines were cut by insurgents Tuesday. Repairs have been delayed because the insurgents also blew up two roads and bridges leading to the broken pipeline.

Allied Troops Kill 336 Reds Along Fronts

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — United Nations soldiers killed or wounded at least 336 Communists Wednesday and early today in sharp, small-scale actions all along the 155-mile Korean battlefront, the U. S. Eighth Army reported.

Allied casualties were not estimated, but briefing oficers said they were small.

Overcast skies dampened the ground fighting and limited the air war to U.N. bomb strikes against the Reds' North Korean supply system. Allied light bomber pilots reported they destroyed 21 Communist supply vehicles. B29 superforts Wednesday night blasted the Hulchon rail yards on the main Communist supply route from Manchuria.

An outnumbered allied patrol came out almost unscratched after engaging about 100 Chinese soldiers south of Pyonggang, on the West-Central Front. A briefing officers estimated 15 Reds were killed and nine wounded.

The officer estimated the Communists lost 92 killed and 123 wounded in forcing U. N. soldiers off a newly-captured hill west of the Pukhan River in a bitter 27-hour Central Front battle Tuesday and Wednesday.

Allied doughboys almost encircled an enemy position on the eastern tip of the battlefront. When they pulled back at nightfall yesterday, they left an estimated 42 Communist dead and 55 wounded.

In Tokyo, Gen. Mark Clark announced the creation of a behind-the-lines Korean communications zone commanded separately from the combat zone.

The Supreme Allied Commander said the purpose was to permit Gen. James A. Van Fleet, commander of the U. S. Eighth Army, "to give his full time and attention to the vigorous prosecution of the United Nations military effort against Communist aggression in Korea."

Clark assigned command of the rear zone to Maj. Gen. Thomas W. Herren of Dadeville, Ala., Eighth Army deputy commander for civil assistance.

The new command will include all Korean and U. N.-held territory south of the combat zone. Herren's command will be responsible for operation and defense of the supply, evacuation, transportation and other administrative functions needed to support the combat zone, Clark said.

The World Today—

Bitterness Exploded by GOP

CHICAGO (AP)—The deadly bitterness between the rival factions in the Republican convention exploded all over the place last night. And when the debris stopped falling, Sen. Taft had lost another, perhaps the vital, battle to Gen. Eisenhower.

The blast was set off by Sen. Dirksen of Illinois with a personal attack on the convention floor against Gov. Dewey, one of the most efficient backers of Eisenhower. Dirksen is such an ardent Taft supporter he has been chosen to put the senator's name in nomination.

During his campaign to win the Republican nomination Taft has repeatedly spoken scornfully of Dewey who twice himself had won the nomination (once beating Taft out of it) but had lost both times to the Democrats in the elections. Taft derided what he called the Dewey "me, too," campaigns.

Dewey's 96 New York delegates have been one of the main convention prizes. They seem lined up almost solidly with Dewey for Eisenhower.

More than that. Dewey and Herbert Brownell, twice the mainspring in getting Dewey his nominations, have worked behind the scenes for the general. Dewey and Brownell are credited with being two of the best wire-pullers in the business.

Dewey hasn't spent much time attacking Taft personally. He's used his energy to wound Taft where it most likely would be fatal: by lining up votes against him.

On Monday, the convention's opening, 95 of the 96 New York delegates, headed by Dewey, voted for a move by the Eisenhower forces which was successful. This was the vote not to let delegates in dispute vote on other disputed delegates.

This was the first test of strength between the Taft-Eisenhower forces and Eisenhower won. The result was a stunning blow to Taft. In the two days that followed, Dewey and Brownell had more time to damage Taft behind the scenes by trying to swing still-uncommitted delegates to the general.

At any rate yesterday afternoon public attacks on Dewey began in earnest. A loudspeaker blared through the Chicago streets:

"Dewey is full of hooey" and "Phooey on Dewey" and "Dewey wants to be president by proxy" —another way of saying the general is a Dewey stooge — and "Poor Blind Ike," sung to the tune of "Three Blind Mice."

This attempt to discredit Dewey and Eisenhower reached its peak with Dirksen when the convention began its session last night. It was preparing to vote on whether pro-Taft or pro-Eisenhower delegations from Georgia and (later) Texas should be seated and permitted to vote on the presidential candidates. In tight balloting the Georgia and Texas votes could swing the nomination.

Dirksen pleaded with the convention — or at least those delegates who hadn't already made up their minds — to vote pro-Taft. He spoke soothingly — about principle, party loyalty, the need for party unity, respect for tradition. Suddenly he abandoned this sweet approach, turned toward Dewey who was with his other 95 New York delegates, and heaped scorn on him: "we followed you before and you took us down the road to defeat."

If the suddenness and nature of this attack shocked or revolted some of the delegates, for others it unleashed either personal dislike for Dewey, anger at him for helping Eisenhower, or their own frustration built up over years of successive defeats.

They booed Dewey, who twice led them to defeat.

As the booing grew it was not clear whether the boos were all against Dewey or partly against Dewey and partly against Dirksen. That may have the end of his speech anyway. Whether it was or not, Dirksen ended it fast after that.

The voting began. Taft lost. Now Taft and Eisenhower face the vote on the nomination, with pro-Eisenhower delegates from Georgia and Texas sitting where pro-Taft men might have sat if the majority of the convention hadn't decided otherwise.

Warner Bros. Lot Has 2nd Huge Blaze

BURBANK, Calif. (AP)—A second disastrous fire in less than two months raged across the Warner Brothers movie lot yesterday and one officer expressed the belief that arson was involved.

Studio spokesmen roughly estimated damage at 4½ to 6 million dollars.

Spectators who remembered the May 16 blaze had that feeling they get at the movies: This is where we came in.

The fire swept in a giant arc through 25 studio back-lot acres, destroying nine streets of scenery ranging from Norwegian to Western.

Sheriff's Arson Investigator Ed Hatcher said there is "every indication" the fire could not have started accidentally, and must have been incendiary.

He said that he and an investigator for the National Board of Fire Underwriters found the area in which the fire started. Hatcher said there was no material there that could have started the fire.

The blaze razed a storage shed containing a 30-year collection of some 2,000 acting props—Robin Hood crossbows, mummy cases, roulette tables, horsehair sofas, spears, swords.

It gutted and collapsed a corrugated iron hangar housing an undetermined number of planes used in movie scenes. Then wind-driven embers leaped a street and burned perhaps 200 acres of scrub oak and brush on a nearby mountainside.

Shapely Patrice Wymore (Mrs. Errol Flynn) was a fetching spectator in the shorts in which she had been rehearsing a hot blues song-and-dance number.

Broderick Crawford and Claire Trevor were recording a song for their movie when somebody yelled "Fire."

"Oh, yeah — quit kidding," growled the tough guy actor, thinking it was a gag based on the previous blaze.

Other movie actor onlookers included Gordon MacRae, Virginia Gibson, Sheldon Leonard and Joe Vitale.

Eighteen studio workmen suffered minor burns, cuts or bruises fighting the fire. Two had heart attacks. One sound stage was scorched and cannot be used until repaired, the studio said. A shed 1,200 feet long and two stories high containing stores of scenery was razed.

An imitation ocean liner and dock, a grand central station and a New York park were destroyed. So were rows of outdoor sets known as the Midwest, Western, tenement, Philadelphia, Norwegian, Viennese, Dijon and Montemartre (French) and Bonneyfeather ("Anthony Adverse") streets.

Father of Quads Goes to Hospital, Victim of Nerves

PORTLAND, Me. (AP)—The father of four-day-old quadruplets was in the same hospital as his wife and babies today, the victim of frazzled nerves.

Silas Pinkham, 45, of Standish, was admitted as a patient when he visited Mrs. Elizabeth Pinkham, 35, and the quads—William, Rebecca, Melissa, and Jane—at the Osteopathic Hospital last night.

Officials said mother and quads continued to do nicely but they said Pinkham was suffering from nervous exhaustion.

Family physician Stanley E. Rowe of Gorham ordered the carpenter to bed for two or three days rest.

The Gulf Stream does not stay put. It meanders far from its supposed course, sometimes doubling back on itself, sometimes looping so that it creates vast eddies which break off from the stream.

Although an organ with a keyboard was described in the Second Century B. C. in Alexandria, it was not until the 12th Century that they were used effectively.

(Editor's note: Wilbur Peeble, America's most average citizen, goes to the heart of the GOP problem in the following letter to his wife, Trellis Mae, from the Republican national convention:)

By HAL BOYLE

CHICAGO (AP) — Well, honey, it looks like five stars over the White House — according to a waitress who sold me a hot dog at Convention Hall.

"Ike's in!" she told me happily, and generously passed out free mustard to the crestfallen Taft supporters.

The story now is that General Eisenhower is doing so well that he is offering to deed the Texas Delegates to General MacArthur in a package labeled "don't open until 1956."

Bob Taft is still in there pitching with both vocal chords, but most of the bystanders now seem to feel that the steam in his steamroller is only going "fiz-z-z-z-z-z." They believe Ike has romanced the elephant and taught him to salute.

Ike's backers are so sure he'll be nominated and elected — that they are already picking his cabinet. I overheard one fellow at a bar say:

"Our problem now is unity — to heal the party's wounds. Ike ought to name Thomas E. Dewey secretary of state, Warren secretary of the interior, Stassen postmaster general, and MacArthur secretary of agriculture. Taft could be vice president."

"In that case we might as well make it a coalition cabinet and appoint Harry S. Truman secretary of the treasury," a bitter Taft man said.

The question then arose about what to do with John Foster Dulles, and a fellow said:

"Why not appoint John Foster Dulles seecretary to John Foster Dulles so there'll be no doubt about his policy?"

Well, honey, as you can see from this kind of talk the Republicans are kind of tuckered out. They have had a rough week. They are not used to fighting among themselves like Democrats. A donkey can relax acting like a jackass, but it makes a dignified elephant nervous.

It may be a bit early for the Ike fans to count Senator Taft out. Personally, I know of only one man who has turned in his Taft button and he explained it was only because he was having his suit pressed — and wanted it back right away if Taft is nominated.

The increasing likelihood that Ike will be the Republican nominee is very annoying to some members of the old guard GOP who refer to him as "the five-star cinderella from Aboloney, Kansas."

"Drat it, we are always falling for glamor boys," one said. "I would rather run Herb Hoover again — if we can't have Taft. Let's be real Republicans."

Well, Trellis Mae, I am no surgeon. But if I had to sew up the wounds in the Republican party at this moment I wouldn't use thread. I'd call for rope.

However, an old-time observer of conventions told me:

"Son, there is nothing in this world shorter than a politician's memory. The promise of future patronage can cure a lot of present name-calling."

Another veteran Republican had this to say about the convention — and he shook his head as he said it:

The trouble with us Republicans is that we've got too many leaders, and the Democrats — they've got too many people."

Well, Trellis Mae, more tomorrow.

New Methods For Treating Severe Burns

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three Detroit scientists today reported tests pointing to quick new methods of diagnosing and treating severe burns.

Dr. John J. Prendergast and two associates of the Chrysler Corp. medical department reported in the Archives of Surgery that the test of burn severity centers around the blood protein called gamma globulin.

They said there is a great increase of gamma globulin (G.G.) in the blood of seriously burned patients, a very slight increase in patients with minor burns. G.G. content can be determined by a new electrical test.

In the case of serious burns, they also found a decrease in the concentration of albumin—another blood protein — which suggested that improved treatment might call for transfusions of blood containing purified human serum albumin.

Gamma globulin first made major news as a measles preventative. More recently, there were indications it could help prevent infantile paralysis, and a major test of its possible effectiveness in polio cases is under way in Texas.

The Detroit researchers said their observations on G.G. as a possible index of burns severity were made during a special electrically aided analysis of the protein content of blood taken from victims of burns.

They said they believed theirs was the first systematic study of its kind employing an electric current in detecting the concentration of proteins in blood of burned patients.

Convention Sidelights---

GOPs Change Way of Living, Take---and Use---Brass Knucks

CHICAGO (AP)—The world must be turning upside down. Or so it seems to the Republicans.

Time was—and only four years ago—when the Democrats were the only ones to take figurative brass knuckles to their conventions.

The Republicans? Oh, they got together on a candidate through a series of dignified understandings ("deals" is a horrid word) and they gave him the prescribed number of cheers and then they all went home without so much as a ruffled necktie.

Well, it's different this year.

The Democrats still have a chance to claw each other to pieces. Over civil rights, for example. But so far their presidential hopefuls anybody counted them lately) are as polite to each other as high school boy to his girl friends big brother.

And the Republicans?

Well, you should have seen them last night. Maybe you did see some of it on television:

The jostling, shrieking masses in the aisles.

The cops called in to keep order.

Speakers that couldn't be heard above the din.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey booed to the echo of the very people who twice ran him for President.

Pennsylvania's Gov. John S. Fine exploding onto the platform like a popped champagne cork, waving his arms in full view of the TV cameras, roaring that by God —as he put it—he was being given a raw deal and wasn't going to stand for it.

Well, there was a lot of it, including at least one fist fight.

In view of all the feuding and fussing, this has been a pretty deadpan show. Hardly a joke cracked.

Theres always the Puerto Rican delegation, though. It almost always insists on each of its members being called by name in a roll call. And then the members argue among themselves over who should vote.

The delegation has three members.

Herbert B. Warburton of Delaware did his best to get a smile, too.

Said this convention reminded him of the one that drew up the United States Constitution in 1787 although:

"In that convention, things must have been much less hectic. There were only 55 delegates and you didn't have to spend half a day on the phone trying to locate any of them. As a matter of fact, the Russians hadn't even invented the phone yet."

The Democrats may yet take over this convention.

A boy with a Kefauver-type coonskin cap wandered onto the convention floor last night.

And John Fell Stevenson, 16-year-old son of Democratic Gov. Adlai Stevenson, turned up—wearing an "I like Ike" paper cap.

"Only a joke," he explained. "I'm really looking to see whether any of Gov. Warren's beautiful California daughters are around."

Recover Bodies Of Six Miners Killed In Blast

GLACE BAY, N. S. (AP)—Rescue workers early today recovered the burned, broken bodies of six miners killed in a searing blast which rocked one of this Cape Breton town's largest coal mines 1,200 feet below the surface.

A seventh victim escaped immediate death in last night's explosion but was hospitalized in serious condition with third-degree burns. Eighteen other men working in the vicinity got out unhurt.

Rescuers dug with dynamite, picks, shovels and bare hands for nearly six hours through tons of fallen rock and coal to reach the 1,200-foot level where the men had been trapped.

There was no immediate indication of the cause of the explosion.

The above-ground workings of the mine—officially known as Dominion No. 20—are near the business section of this mining center but some of its corridors snake far out under the Atlantic.

The blast apparently centered under the ocean, about three miles from the main shaft of the mine.

Michael Chordas, a miner working on the level above the explosion scene, said he and his four companions felt a heaving bump—an upward movement of the mine floor caused by tremendous pressure.

"It got so hot we got out of there right away," he said.

The mine is owned by the Dominion Steel and Coal Corp.

The explosion was Nova Scotia's second mine disaster this year. Nineteen miners died in February in a blast at the Magregor Mine in Stellarton.

Reprimanded Boy Hangs Himself

ST. LOUIS, (AP)—A 9-year-old boy, scolded by his mother for getting his feet dirty after playing barefooted, was found hanged in the attic of his home late last night.

The boy, Ernest Dale Acton, was found by his 11-year-old sister after his mother had reported him missing to police.

Mrs. Juanita Acton told police she had scolded the boy for playing in his bare feet and cutting his foot yesterday afternoon. While she went to the police station to report his disappearance last night, his body was found by his sister, Mary.

The boy was pronounced dead at City Hospital.

Into Army Induction

Billy Bob Hiltenberg, Sedalia, formerly of Pleasant Green, was among three youths leaving Boonville Wednesday for induction into the armed forces. The others were Earl Junior Williams, Boonville, and Carl Day Jr., Pilot Grove.

Six others from Cooper County went to Kansas City Monday for physical examinations.

Bathing reportedly was stylish among the Arabs at a time when perfume was still a substitute for soap and water in the courts of Europe.

Fury Breaks Loose as Dirksen Slaps Dewey, Fine Gets Angry

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago (AP)—Like nature, democracy in the raw is seldom mild.

The democratic process, as the Republicans unrolled it today, sent more than 12,000 people staggering out of Convention Hall, dizzy, reeling and emotionally spent after seven hours of indescribable excitement.

Last night, when the hall filled, it was obvious that an explosion was coming. The climax, as those churning thousands knew, was at hand over the delegate contests in Texas and Georgia.

It was Sen. Everett Dirksen, of Illinois, a heavy-bodied man with a smooth, persuasive platform manner, who brought about the first great roar. Dirksen was defending the Taft faction in Georgia.

With a dramatic pause, he looked down from the speaker's platform directly at Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, said he had campaigned for Dewey in 1944 and 1948 and then let go —

"Twice he led us down the road of defeat."

It brought thousands of people to their feet, yelling, screaming, pop-eyed with excitement, anger or approval. There were unforgettable pictures then, and Dewey himself provided the best of them.

He sat there, apparently cool, with a fixed smile on his face. He was holding a cigaret in a black holder.

Every eye in the hall turned toward Dewey. Photographers climbed over each other's backs to snap pictures. People stood on chairs, craning, yelling and gesturing. The galleries were a nightmare of sound and excitement.

A man, with his hands cupped around his mouth, was bellowing "yah-yah-yah" at Dewey. there were boos for Dirksen and cries of "sit down."

The smile stayed on Dewey's face, and no other emotion so much as flickered there.

A moment later, things were going on in another ring of the circus.

Over near the Indiana standard, there was a sudden swirl of movement, another explosion of noise, and again people standing on chairs. A stocky little man, coatless and wearing a white shirt, was flailing away with his fists at a brother Republican, who appeared to have missed the stocky little man and hit one of the floor guards.

The police broke that up, but, like a brush-fire with a spark still left somewhere, it soon started again. The second time, they stopped it completely.

Soon afterward, Gov. John S. Fine of Pennsylvania, came into the starring role. Fine is short, rotund and aggressive.

He charged up from the floor to the speaker's rostrum like an infuriated buffalo to protest the opening of the vote on Georgia. He was white-faced and he trembled with fury. His high, pink forehead glistened with sweat.

He claimed there had ben an agreement for a recess before the vote. He grabbed the temporary chairman, Walter Hallanan of West Virginia, by the arms, and his hoarse voice grated out over the public-address system, "My God, let's keep our agreements."

Hallanan ruled him out of order.

As somebody remarked, "These Republicans are acting like a bunch of doggone Democrats tonight."

Senate Probers Looking Into Missouri Race

JEFFERSON CITY, (AP)—The U. S. Senate Elections Committee has sent an investigator here to probe charges and countercharges made by the campaign managers of two candidates for the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senator from Missouri.

James E. Lynch arrived yesterday after requests for an investigation were made by the campaign managers in telegrams to Senator Gillette (D-Ia), chairman of the Senate elections committee.

Lynch said he intended to ask both sides for more formal complaints than were made in the telegrams to the committee.

Stephen K Owen of St. Joseph, campaign manager for J. E. Taylor said Sunday that "every indication points to the fact that Symington (W. Stuart Symington, also a candidate for the Democratic nomination) is spending huge and illegal sums of money" in his campaign.

Owen demanded that the committee launch an investigation into what he called the former Reconstruction Finance Corporation chief's attempt to "purchase" the nomination.

In a reply, James H. Meredith, Symington's manager, said Taydor has used both state employes and funds in furthering his campaign. He also requested investigation of alleged activity of federal employes in Taylor's behalf.

Included among Owen's charges were statements that Symington is prepared to spend a half million dollars to win the nomination. Meredith caller the charges a "smear campaign."

Well Wishers Swarm to Ike, See Victory

CHICAGO (AP) — Well-wishers swarmed into the headquarters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower today in the wake of his convention hall victories over the forces of Sen. Robert A. Taft in key test votes.

One of his staunch backers, Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland, predicted Eisenhower would win the presidential nomination on the first ballot. McKeldin will place the general's name in nomination.

Another visitor was Jack Porter of Houston, leader of the pro-Ike Texans whom the convention voted in the early morning hours in preference to a pro-Taft group.

Porter, predicting Republican victory for Eisenhower, also said he could beat any Democrat and specified he could "beat hell out of Truman."

Former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota called on both Eisenhower and Taft and afterward told a news conference he is not throwing his 25-delegate strength to anybody. He said he is staying in the race for the presidential nomination himself.

When McKeldin left Eisenhower's hotel suite, he was asked whether he would accept the vice presidential spot on a ticket headed by Eisenhower.

"Any American would," McKeldin replied.

Various state delegations began beating a path to the general's door.

A victory atmosphere pervaded the whole Eisenhower headquarters in the Blackstone Hotel. The lobby outside the general's suite took on the appearance of a theater playing a smash hit.

Delegates lined up behind a roped-off area taking their turns in the march to the general's personal quarters.

Southern Leaders OK Civil Rights

CHICAGO (AP)—Lester Parsons of Virginia said today Southern GOP leaders had agreed to accept the party's proposed plank on civil rights without a convention floor fight.

As a member of the Resolutions Committee which wrote a compromise statement on the touchy issue, Parsons yesterday threatened to ask the convention to change it.

24 Prisoners Hurt In Riot Inside Stockade

PUSAN, Korea (AP) —Twenty-four prisoners were injured Wednesday when club-wielding Reds fought each other in a stockade at Nonsan thee Army said today.

A platoon of American guards restored order without firing a shot or using tear gas, the Army said.

About 130 prisoners were involved in the demonstration.

Nonsan is about 22 miles southwest of Taejon in Southwestern Korea.

Guards moved into the compound after two groups of war prisoners armed with clubs and other homemade weapons began rioting inside the barbed wire enclosure, the Army said. No reason for the fight was announced.

Fourteen of the injured prisoners were hurt seriously enough to require evacuation to Taejon for hospitalization. One was reported in serious condition.

A short Army announcement said the fighting started at Compound 16 shortly after midnight when about 40 prisoners, armed with clubs made from tentpoles, began attacking other prisoners and ripping tents.

Some 16 prisoners crawled through the compound fence to escape the violence. They immediately surrendered to guards outside the compound.

The prisoners were presumed to be North Koreans because the U.N. Command has announced all Chinese POWs now are held on Chegu Island, off South Korea.

Two Young Men Held on Charge Of Burglary Here

Two young men arrested by the police early Wednesday morning have been charged with first degree burglary in connection with their acts at 1819 South Stewart. They are Clarence Jobe, 19, and Frank Salyards, 18, both who gave their homes at Indianapolis, Ind.

The two were arrested, according to the police, after they had broken into the home of Gene Young. The police report shows the two men were alleged to have broken into the home, and upon entering assaulted Mr. Young by beating him with his own shoes.

Young was so badly injured he was taken to the Bothwell Hospital where Dr. Karl B. Gonser rendered medical treatment, after which he was released to return to his home.

The incident was reported to have taken place at 3:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Both young men appeared before Magistrate W. W. Blain Thursday morning and waived their preliminary hearings and were bound over to the action of the criminal division of the Pettis County Circuit Court. Judge Sam Blair of Jefferson City is coming to Sedalia to sit in court Friday and they are expected to appear before him at that time.

In the meantime the two are being detained in the county jail.

Russell Visits Truman, Each Understands Other

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Richard B. Russell conferred with President Truman today and said afterward: "I'm sure the President and I understand each other."

Russell, the Georgia senator seeking the Democratic presidential nomination, would not elaborate on this comment as he left the White House.

A reporter asked Russell: "Lest there be some misunderstanding — when you say you and the President understand each other, does that denote any endorsement of your candidacy?"

"If you will quote me as I said it, I believe I'll stand on what I said," Russell replied. "I don't believe I'll elaborate on that."

He repeated earlier statements he would not "walk out" of the party if it adopted a civil rights program he does not like and said he is not interested in the vice presidential nomination.

Russell spoke optimistically of his chances for the presidential nomination, asserting:

"I would not exchange places this morning with any other candidate for the Dmocratic nomination."

Taft Rallies His Backers To Last Stand

CHICAGO (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft, after two convention vote losses to Eisenhower forces, rallied his followers today for a fight-to-the-finish.

After the customary morning strategy conference on how to drive home a victory over Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in the GOP national convention, David S. Ingalls, the Taft campaign manager, told reporters:

"I think Ike is slipping. I don't know how far he is going to slip."

Despite the victories chalked up by the Ike forces last night when the convention voted to seat pro-Eisenhower delegations from Georgia and Texas, Taft himself said in an early morning statement:

"I expect to be nominated on an early ballot."

Ingalls was asked if he looked for a first ballot victory.

"I don't think so," he replied. "I don't know." But he said he has not retreated from his prediction of final victory for the Ohio senator.

As for the statement that Eisenhower seems to be slipping, Ingalls said he based that on reports received from many delegates. These, he said, resent the way Eisenhower people handled the Georgia vote dispute at convention hall last night.

Ingalls also took note of current rumors Taft, if he found himself unable to win the nomination, might throw his pledged support to Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Tunney Sees Ike, Recalls Prediction

CHICAGO (AP) — Gene Tunney called on General Dwight D. Eisenhower today and said afterward the general is very confident of winning the GOP nomination.

"But he never under-estimates an opponent," Tunney said.

Tunney, former heavyweight champion, spent about 10 minutes with the general at his headquarters.

A few days after President Truman's re-election in november, 1948, Tunney recalled, he and the general played a round of golf together.

"I told him I knew who was going to be the next president," Tunney related.

The former boxer said Eisenhower exclaimed:

"God help him! Who do you think it will be?"

Tunney said he replied: "Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower."

And the general shot back: "Oh, my Lord!"

DENVER— (AP) —Elliott Roosevelt, son of the late president, said today he intends to vote for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in November if the general gets the Republican presidential nomination.

Errors Spell Chief's Loss to All-Stars of B-J League

Locals Make 11 Miscues, Lose 4 to 7

The seventh annual CEMO Ban Johnson All-Star game was played in Sedalia Wednesday night at Liberty Park, with the All-Stars winning over the Sedalia Chiefs, first half league champions, by a score of 7-4.

The Sedalians made 11 errors which accounted for five of the All-Stars runs. Their two earned runs were made in the fifth off losing pitcher Bill Arnold on a single by Cal Voegtle, Moberly, and a home run by Bob Bishop, Moberly.

Bill Moore of Boonville was the winning pitcher after working the fourth and fifth innings, allowing only one base runner on a walk to Bill Holst in the fourth. He also struck out three. The best pitching performances were turned in by Norm Iverson, Moberly and Bobby Brown, Sedalia, as they both struck out seven batters in the first three frames. Iverson gave up two hits and Brown allowed only one hit, but walked two.

All-Star pitchers held the Chiefs to five hits and gave up seven walks, which helped the local boys score two runs in the sixth on three walks and a hit. After two were out, Bartlett walked, Holst and Weist also walked. Lane, after the count reached three balls and two strikes, singled into left field, driving in Bartlett and Holst for the home town's first scores.

In the eighth inning the Chiefs again tallied as Higgins, Weist and Lane walked and Cochran followed with a single to center, scoring Higgins and Weist. Cochran was the big gun for the Chiefs as he connected for two out of four.

All-Stars' first scoring came in the fourth as Voegtle, Moberly, singled to lead off the inning; Bishop of Moberly singled and Cleary, Boonville, reached first on an error by the shortstop, as Voegtle scored. In the fifth Bishop hit his home run with his teammate Voegtle, ahead of him.

The All-Stars tallied again in the sixth as Reed, Moberly, singled and Dennis, Moberly, reached second on a two base error by the second baseman. Reed scored. The winning run came in the seventh as Stelplugh, Brookfield, walked and scored on an error and a passed ball. The final two tallies came in the eighth on a single by Boone, Mexico, two errors of the second baseman, a walk and a stolen base.

Cal Voegtle and Bob Bishop, both of Moberly, led the hitting attack for the All-Stars, getting two for three. Iverson also got one for one to lead for percentage.

Next Two Weeks Will Decide Fate of St. Louis Cardinals

By JOE REICHLER
AP Sports Writer

The next two weeks should decide the fate of Eddy Stanky's St. Louis Cardinals.

Beginning tonight, the red-hot Redbirds take on Philadelphia, Brooklyn and New York in succession before closing out their home stay with Boston in an 11-game stand against the Eastern cities.

By then, the sizzling Cards may either have blown a fuse or have established themselves as a solid pennant threat on an even footing with the Dodgers and Giants.

Currently the hottest club in the National League, the Cards are riding high on a nine-game winning streak with 18 triumphs in their last 22 games. Wallowing in the second division a month ago, the Redbirds have pushed into third place, 9½ games behind Brooklyn.

Stanky, though well aware of the Dodgers' healthy 13-game edge on the decisive defeat side of the standings, refuses to concede a thing to Brooklyn and New York.

"We've still got an outside chance for the pennant," he said. "We're going good right now. There is no reason why we shouldn't continue. We picked up four games on the Dodgers in a little over a week. And w're going to pick up more ground. This race isn't over by a long shot."

Stanky's optimism was based on the fact that his team has shown it can beat the Dodgers. The Cards hold a 6-5 margin over the league leaders. Only the Giants have an advantage over them, that by the narrow 7-6 edge.

The Cards' sudden surge has been a team affair with nearly all regulars sharing the credit. But the man most responsible, even more so than Stan (The Man) Musial, has been Enos (Country) Slaughter. The 36-year-old warhorse, who refuses to bow to age, is enjoying one of his best seasons.

The fourth leading hitter in the league with .314, old Country has been using his bat with devastating effect in the past two weeks. He's driven in nearly half of his 49 runs during that time and he has driven in five runs in each of three days.

Musial, of course, has maintained his steady, league-leading .333 pace and peanuts Lowrey, Red Schoendienst, Solly Hemus, Del Rice and Dick Sisler have contributed their share to the team's recent success. Al Brazle (6-1), Gerry Staley (11-6), Joe Presko (5-4), Cloyd Boyer (5-4), Vinegar Bend Mizell (3-5) and Eddie Yuhas (5-2) have sparkled on the mound.

While the Cards are threatening to make a three-team affair of the National League race, the American continues to resemble a fox hunt with Cleveland, Washington, Boston and Chicago chasing the New York Yankees. The White Sox showed speed of foot during the past week to move into the runner-up spot, three games behind the Yankees. The Indians, Senators and Red Sox are not far behind.

Stanky Recalls Giants' Surge, Pushes Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP)—When you're riding a winning streak, the big worry usually is tomorrow. But not so with Manager Eddie Stanky, who currently has boosted his St. Louis Cardinals to their longest string of triumphs in five years.

With nine straight games packed away on the win side, Stanky is dreaming about yesteryear and those almost unbelievable days with the 1951 miracle New York Giants.

And little wonder. Just a month ago the Cards were dangerously near seventh place, now they're riding a comfortable third, just nine lengths back.

Says Stanky, making his debut as manager, "we're a strong pennant threat."

Where did th new life come from? It's a combination of hitting and pitching, says Stanky. "And don't forget my 37-year-old Phenoms."

"There's Al Brazle, Harry Brecheen and Enos Slaughter. Al and Harry ar always ready to pitch. They never have 'sore arms'. And that Slaughter. He just doesn't seem to want a rest.

"They're all from the old school. If you need 'em you can count on 'em to say 'I'm ready.'"

And ready they've been, Brecheen, bothered earlier by a chronic elbow ailment, has won three straight for a 3-3 record.

Brazle has a 5-1 record to date. Like Brecheen, Brazle is 37 and the best bullpen insurance the Cards have had since Ted Wilks went lame.

And then you come to Slaughter, the "youngest" of the trio (he won't be 37 until August.) In the last 12 games of which the Cards have won 11, the old war horse has batted a hot .439, driving in 18 runs that pushed his lifetime RBI total over the 1,000 mark.

"Slaughter is in a wonderful position for us," says Stanky. "The pitchers have to be careful with (Stan) Musial, and then they run into Slaughter, who bats next.

"Look what Cincinnati did. They walked Musial to load the bases and then Slaughter hit a double to drive in all the runs."

The Cards—and Brecheen took that gam, 3-0.

"It's not just those three, though," Stanky explains. "It's everybody. Solly Hemus. What a leadoff man he is. Eddie Yuhas and Bill Werle give us great relief work. Del Rice is having a fine year. And Dick Sisler has helped all around.

"I'm 100 per cent satisfied with this club. They bounce back for you."

Still with an eye on the 1951 Giants, Stanky points out the Cards have won 28 of their last 40, 12 of their last 22, 11 of the last 12 and all of their last nine.

"We're a strong threat," says Stanky. "We've come a long way. There's always hope."

Bobby Schantz Out For Several Days

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Little Bobby Shantz, southpaw pitching star of the Philadelphia Athletics, is going to get a few extra days of rest because of a muscular condition in his chest.

X-rays disclosed the pain that forced the 14 game winner to retire from the game against the New York Yankees last Sunday was nothing serious. Dr. Illarion Gopadze, team physician, said a few days rest and some diathermy treatment would clear up the condition.

Manager Jimmy Dykes said he wouldn't use his 5 feet 7, 145 pounder until next Saturday. Shantz worked in the curtailed all-star game, striking out Whitey Lockman of the New York Giants; Jackie Robinson of the Brooklyn Dodgers, and Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals in his one inning stint.

Stephen Foster, who wrote such songs as "My Old Kentucky Home" and "Old Folks At Home", died homeless and forsaken in a New York hospital charity ward.

National Public Links Into Fifth Round of Play

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—With all former champions watching wistfully from the sidelines and a 21-year-old Illinois laborer hogging the spotlight, the rough-and-ready National Public Links Golf Tournament moved today into its fifth exciting round.

The man to watch was rangy Bob Scherer, an unknown workman from Decatur. He came from nowhere in yesterday morning's third round to blast Defending Champion Dave Stanley of Los Angeles from this meeting of the stars of America's municipal golf courses with an astounding 4 and 3 victory.

Completely unaffected by his sparkling decision over Stanley, the young UCLA student who had been given a good chance to don the public links crown for the second year, Scherer came back in the afternoon fourth round and knocked George Caskey of Dayton, O., out of the running, 4 and 3.

So, just five years after he swung his first golf club, Scherer was well on his way to becoming the king of the week-end players and, possibly, to carving a career for himself in the professional ranks.

Stanley was one of three former titleholders who saw their comeback hopes blown up in yesterday's wild, free-for-all scramble. The field that exceeded 2,000 when the qualifying rounds were played last month now has been cut to a hardy 16.

Stanley Bielat of Yonkers, N. Y., the 1940 champ, was bumped by Frank Rutkiewiez of Honolulu, 1 up, and Andy Szwedko, the stubborn Pittsburgh steelworker who won it way back there in 1939, was knocked out by Charles Hess of Indianapolis, 2 and 1.

Rutkiewiez, who revenged a semifinals defeat by Bielat in the tournament at Louisville two years ago, had only a short time to enjoy his triumph. He was kicked out himself in the afternoon round by Matt Carvey of Harvey, Ill., 1 up.

Indians' First Win; Red Birds At Loop Top

Standings—	W	L
Red Birds	3	0
Yankees	1	2
Giants	1	2
Indians	1	2

The Little League Minors in the western division saw the Indians win their first game, defeating the Giants 18-13 and Dillon's hustling Red Birds move into a comfortable lead in the standings by downing the Yankees 9-3 in a fast moving game Wednesday night at Hous l Park.

In the first game, between the Indians and Giants, Shultz was the winning pitcher and Berry was charged with the loss as the Indians played heads-up ball in scoring 18 runs on six hits. The Giants also took advantage of the breaks as they tallied 13 runs on five hits, but couldn't overcome the five run lead. The Indians' leading hitters were Burton, Hageman and Bishop, all getting one for one and Albertson took the batting honors for the Giants, smashing out two for three.

The Red Birds walked away with their third straight triumph last night as Barnes and Guilbault hurled five hit ball and gave up but three runs. Barnes started the game and was credited with the win as he gave up but three hits and one run. Guilbault allowed two runs on two hits to finish the game. The leading hitters for the losers were Wertz and Gay, both getting two for two. Land led the Red Birds with two for two and scored two runs. Both his hits were triples.

'Ivy League' Adopts Name As Official

NEW YORK (AP)—The eight eastern universities that have been referred to for years as the "Ivy League" have finally come around to using the designation themselves.

In an anti-climatical announcement yesterday concerning the revision, approval and reaffirmation of a 1949 pact, the eight schools — Brown, Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Princeton and Yale — officially referred to the new pact as the "Ivy Group Agreement."

It was the first time they had used the "Ivy" label.

As expected, the presidents pointed out in a statement announced simultaneously by the eight universities that decisions reached last February on football policy would be included in the new agreement effective July 1.

Spring football practice, postseason games and football clinics were ruled out of bounds for league members in the February decisions.

All organizd athletics will be covered, according to the statement, although it was drafted principally in rgard to football.

A substantial revision was made of the eligibility section of the 1949 agreement. The presidents, who will act as a policy committee which "shall have full and final responsibility for the determination of all agreed policies," ruled that:

1-For the first time, a written statement must be filed by students who wish to be eligible for varsity teams, stating that they will agree to abide by the policies of the Ivy Group Agreement.

2-Any year missed through scholastic or disciplinary eligibility shall nevertheless be counted as one of three academic years allotted for eligibility.

3-To be eligible, a student must mak "normal academic progr.

4-o studnt ntering after Sept. 1, 1953, shall be eligible whose secondary school education was subsidized or whose post - college education is promised by an institution, by an individual or group of individuals not closely related to hs family as a consideration for his attending the particular institution.

Surprises Come In Mo. Amateur Golf Tourney

KANSAS CITY, (AP) — The second round of match play in the Missouri State Amateur Golf tournament will get underway here today after a first round that was studded with surprises.

Jack Geiss, the 1949 champion from St. Louis, was eliminated by Bill Hornbuckle, a 23-year-old Kansas Citian, 2 up.

Jim Tom Blair III, of Jefferson City, who was tournament medalist with a five under par 67, was forced to go the distance before he eliminated Leland Kramer, Kansas City, 1 up in a tough match. Kramer scored a 77 in his qualifying round.

Bill Stewart, Springfield, semifinalist last year, scored an upset 7 and 6 victory over Vince D'Antoni, St. Louis, former National Intercollegiate champion and recent winner of the St. Louis district tourney.

A couple of other favorites came through just about as expected. Jim Jackson, St. Louis, the defending champion, defeated Hal McCoy, St. Louis, 3 and 1; Warren Riepen of St. Joseph, state champion in 1948 and 1950, ousted Wilbur Batels of Kansas City, 4 and 3.

George Sinderson, Kansas City, who was one of the low medalists in the qualifying round with a 71, advanced to the second round with a close 2 up victory over Clancy Miller, St. Joseph.

It was the Blair-Kramer match, however, that proved to be the outstanding battle for the day.

Plea for Peace During Olympics Made by Finns

ELSIHNKI (AP)—Finland, neutral host nation to the biggest and potentially the most controversial of modern Olympic games, spread diplomatic oil on troubled waters today to bring about sports amity between East and West.

The Russians, after starting off with the usual cold isolation of the party line, have become unexpectedly friendly—very probably on orders from high places.

Now Baron Erik von Frenckell, president of the Finnish Olympic Organizing Committee, has called an "important" press conference today. There were advance indications he would make a fervent appeal for peaceful games.

This would be in the tradition of the Olympic Games of ancient times. In those days long before the Christian era heralds went out through Greeece to proclaim the games every four years, and called on the city states—many of which were usually in a state of war—to cease hostilities and permit the free passages of athletes to the site of the gamees. None was ever interfered with.

Premier Urho Kekkonen of Finland has written a magazine article which will be published shortly calling on the nation to maintain a neutral and friendly attitude despite the frictions of its past war with Russia.

Whether all this friendliness will add up to a games devoid of friction only time can tell. This is the first time Soviet Russia has ever competed, and it marks the return to the world sports arena of Germany and Japan as well. It will take a great deal of forbearance on all sides to avoid incidents.

The United States and Russia have the two biggest teams in the games — approximately 400 athletes each. There are 69 nations competing with about 6,500 individual entries. The rivalry of the two giants of the East and the West is certain to be watched with keen interest throughout he world.

At the outset, the Russians hid behind the usual iron or red tape curtain. But it opened up yesterday. Reporters were unexpectedly permitted to tour the splendid modern village at Otaniemi, guarded by barbed wire, where the Iron Curtain athletes are housed. Russians wearing the bold white "CCCP" on their blue sweat shirts even showed up on a tour of the Olympic Stadium. "CCCP" stands for Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

There is no question but that Russia is making an all-out effort for a good showing here. Americans who watched the Soviet equestrian team unload were amazed at the splendor of the equipment and the quality of the horses.

Miss Chadwick said she appreciated her mother's advice but that she will win or lose on her own decisions.

GOP Platform Accuses Administration of Corruption and 'Shielding Trators'

Compromises On Big Items Are Reached

CHICAGO (AP) — Republicans today accused the Truman administration of sickening corruption and of shielding "traitors to the nation in high places."

This blistering attack came in the long-awaited campaign platform handed to the GOP National Convention for expected approval during the day.

Slashing attacks on the "present administration's sordid record of corruption" overshadowed hard-fought compromises on the foreign policy, national defense and civil rights planks.

Only the "civil rights" plank—dealing with the touchy issues of racial discrimination — caused fears of a possible floor fight.

Even so, this plank was shaped to bridge North-South differences. It is toned down, reflecting a stiff committee fight, from the 1948 statement which backed whatever laws would be needed to end job discrimination against Negroes and other minorities.

This time the promise was for federal legislation to deal with racial discrimination in states which failed to. Whether this should be compulsory or voluntary was not stated.

Sen. Eugene D. Millikin of Colorado, chairman of the group that shaped the campaign document, told a reporter he expects quick convention approval.

In general, the released foreign policy and defense planks had been approved in advance by Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the two top contenders for the party's presidential nomination.

These planks belabored the Democrats on foreign policy, saying "they swing erratically from timid appeasement to reckless blunder."

The GOP document promised that Republicans will seek "an honorable just peace" that would even bring hope to those now imprisoned under Communist domination.

On national defense, the platform promised a quick buildup to "completely adequate air power", something Sen. Taft has stressed.

And then it balanced this, probably at suggestions from the Eisenhower camp, with a pledge for "simultaneous readiness of co-ordinated air, land and sea lanes, with all the necessary installations, bases, supplies and munitions, including atomic energy weapons."

All through the unusually long (6,000-word) platform, the Republicans promised to clean house in government, cut costs and reduce waste, overlapping and bureaucracy.

But the really bristling words came in the section titled "corruption".

"The present administration's sordid record of corruption has shocked and sickened the American people," it began. "Its leaders have forfeited any right to public faith by the way they transact the government's business."

The platform said Republicans have exposed instances of "fraud, bribery, graft, favortism and influence peddling" in the present administration."

"There have been disclosures of close alliances between the present government and underworld characters," it said, and it protested a "double standard" in enforcing tax laws.

"Political favorites including even some gangsters and crooks" were treated leniently, the platform draft said, while honest taxpayers were harrassed over minor discrepancies.

Then it listed many of the scandals that have been exposed by congressional investigations and charged the administration with failing to clean house.

"The Republican party pledges to put an end to corruption," the document said, "to oust the crooks and grafters, to administer tax laws fairly and impartially and to restor honest government to the people."

Another special plank on communism said the Democrats had "permitted Communists and their fellow travelers to serve in many key agencies and to infiltrate our American life.

When Republicans protested and exposed these Communists, the platform said, the administration "raised the false cry of 'red herring and took other measures to block and discredit investigations.

The GOP platform said the administration's softness on communism resulted in "the needless sacrifice of American lives, a crushing cost in dollars for defense, possession by Russia of the atomic bomb, the lowering of the Iron Curtain, and the present threats to world peace."

"There are no Communists in the Rpublican party," the platform stated. "We have always recognized communism to be a world conspiracy against freedom and religion.

"We never compromised with communism and we have fought to expose it and to eliminate it in government and American life."

If elected, Republicans said:

"We will overhaul loyalty and security programs."

The platform hit hard at "federal compulsory health insurance," as often urged by President Truman, saying it involved "crushing cost, wasteful inefficiency, bureaucratic deadweight and debased standards of medical care."

"We recognize that the health of our people as well as their proper medical care cannot be maintained if subject to federal bureaucratic dictation," it said.

The platform put Republicans on record for support of scientific research and "encouragement of improved methods of assuring health protection."

On education, it said responsibility has and should rest "upon the local communities and the states."

It pledged "immediate statehood" for Hawaii and the same for Alaska.

"Eventual statehood" was listed for Puerto Rico.

Taking note of many protests about curtailed mail deliveries, the Republicans promised "a more efficient and frequent mail delivery service."

One of the briefest planks dealt with "censorship" this way:

"We pledge not to infringe by censorship or gag order the right of a free people to know what their government is doing."

Farm Plank Promises Farmer Freedom From Fed. Subsidies

CHICAGO (AP) — The Resolutions Committee of the Republican National Convention today accused the Truman administration of trying to destroy the farmers' freedom by making them dependent on government subsidies.

A GOP platform submitted to the convention promised to free the farmer from this "threat" and to set up instead a federal farm program designed to give producers parity prices—the goal endorsed by both parties—at the market place.

Parity is a standard for measuring agricultural prices, declared by law to be equally fair to farmers and to those who buy their products.

The GOP farm plank promised to use commodity loans, farm storage, farm credit, voluntary self-supporting crop insurance, and federal price supports to seek full parity prices.

Price supports, it said, would be set at whatever levels were found necessary to maintain a balanced production and to stabilize farm income.

It did not commit the party to a 90 per cent parity support level promised by the Truman administration and recently set up for major crops through 1954 by action of Congress.

The platform denounced a controversial farm plan advanced three years ago by Secretary of Agriculture Brannan as a "fraud" on both the farmer and the consumer. This plan proposed the use of subsidies to supplement farm income when prices drop. It would allow food prices to go lower, its sponsor said, than is possible under the present program.

The GOP document said the Brannan plan subsidies would have to be paid through heavy taxes. Coupled with such subsidies, it said, would be controls that would "socialize agriculture."

"We denounce the administration's use of tax money and a multitude of federal agencies to put agriculture under partisan political dictation and to make the farmer dependent upon government," the plank said.

The plank draft favored a bipartisan federal farm commission to review farm policies and to make recommendations.

It also gave support to a "constructive" soil conservation program under which payments would be made to farmers for making permanent improvements.

It branded as "unscrupulous" the Truman administration's "manipulation" of grain prices during the 1948 campaign "to drive down farm prices" for the purpose, the plank said, of misrepresenting laws passed by the Republican - controlled 80th Congress. Gov. Thomas E. Dewey has contended this helped to defeat him in '48.

Approve Pay Hike For Queen, Grant $1,330,000 Year

LONDON (AP)—The House of Commons last night okayed a pay raise for Queen Elizabeth II, giving her 475,000 pounds ($1,330,000) a year to run the royal household.

The decision hiking the royal budget 65,000 pounds ($182,000) over that of the late George VI came despite outraged demands by a score of Laborites that the ruler's purse be cut nearly in half —to 250,000 pounds ($700,000).

After the Conservative government's majority defeated Laborite amendments to trim the budget, the House approved it without a vote. Thee government now will draft a bill covering the new budget. Its acceptance by the House of Commons is only a formality.

In a lively debate, austerity-arguing Socialists attacked the whole pomp and pageantry of the British monarchy and said it was time for a change. Left-winger Emrys Hughes even suggested, amid shocked cries from Conservative benches, that Buckingham Palace be turned into an apartment house.

Chancellor of the Exchequer R. A. Butler retorted that the idea would be opposed by a majority of Britons. Arguing for the budget increase, Butler said simplification in the Queen's official functions would be welcomed, but he added, "We feel this must be left to the discretion of the sovereign."

New, Lower Taxes Coming Says Platform

CHICAGO (AP)—The 1952 Republican platform being presented to the convention today promises small business new, lower tax laws and an end to government "hostility to initiative and enterprise."

The statement of principles was drafted by the Resolutions Committee for convention action. In its sections on small business and taxation, it says:

"Merciless taxation, the senseless use of controls and ceaseless effort to enter business on its own account, have led the present government to unrestrained waste and extravagance in spending, irresponsibility in decision and corruption in administration."

It adds:

"The Republican party will end this hostility to initiative and enterprise."

The statement says a GOP administration would "relentlessly" enforce anti-monopoly and unfair competition laws, but would help businessmen comply with them.

It opposed federal rent control except in critical defense housing areas. It pledged a fight against inflation by "encouraging full production . . . and not through a program of restrictions." And it pledged an end to "tax abuses and injurious price and wage controls."

Calling for a sound economy, the proposed platform advocates cutting government spending by "elimination of waste and extravagance." It said this would lead to a balanced budget and general tax reduction.

It calls for a study of tax sources to avoid overlapping of federal and local levies, a revision of tax laws and revenue administration "free from politics, favoritism and corruption."

Taft Forces Give Up Texas Without A Roll Call Vote

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago, (AP)—Taft forces, routed in contest with the Eisenhower camp over Georgia delegates, early today let a heavily pro-Eisenhower Texas delegation be seated in the Republican National Convention without a rollcall vote.

On motion of the Taft-backing Iowa delegation, the convention by acclamation gave the Texas seats to the Jack Porter delegation made up of 33 Eisenhower backers and five Taft supporters.

Platforms of 1952 and 1948 Compared on Major Points

CHICAGO —(AP)Here is a comparison of the major points of the 1952 Republican platform—as proposed by the Resolutions Committee to the national convention—with the party's 1948 platform.

Foreign policy—Both set a just peace and a free world as their goals. Both endorse the United Nations and collective security arrangements with freedom - loving countries, and spurn appeasement. Both endorse "self-help" types of assistance to other peace-loving nations. The 1948 plank gave stronger endorsement to economic aid programs than this year's.

The 1952 plank is sharply more critical of President Truman's conduct of foreign affairs than was the 1948 platform.

National defense—The 1948 plank promised to maintain air, land and sea forces at levels that would insure the nation's security. The 1952 plank, calling existing military strength "disgracefully lagging," promises to develop it with utmost speed, with emphasis on air power and an abundance of atomic weapons.

Communism — The 1952 plank is much more critical of the administration's attitude toward communism, charging it has appeased the Reds both at home and abroad and allowed them to serve in many government agencies. It also claims Truman policies are responsible for Russian possession of the atomic bomb and prent threats to world peace.

Small business — Both planks promise to encourage small business through anti-monopoly action, elimination of unnecessary controls, protection against discrimination and limitation of government competition.

The 1952 plank accuses the Democrats of praising free enterprise while actually trying to wreck it. It also promises to end "injurious" price and wage controls,

Civil rights—The 1948 platform favoreed federal legislation to compel employers to deal fairly with Negroes and other racial groups in the hiring and firing of workers.

The 1952 plank favors federal legislation—undefined as to whether it should be compulsory or voluntary—to deal with racial discrimination in states not taking such action.

Taxation and monetary policy—Both promise lower taxes, balanced budgets and elimination of "waste and extravagance" in government spending, and both accuse Democratic administrations of encouraging inflation.

Agriculture—The 1948 platform endorsed a system of "flexible" price supports.

The 1952 plank endorses price supports at levels deemed necessary to maintain a "balanced" production. The 1952 plank charges the Democrats with attempting to destroy farmers' freedom by use of subsidies.

Labor—The 1952 plank advocates retention of the controversial Taft-Hartley Law, with some modifications, and condemns government seizure of plants and industries to force settlement of labor-management disputes.

This act was not mentioned in the 1948 platform, but principles incorporated in it were endorsed.

Moonshiners Hit, 804 Stills Raided

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal revenue agents bore down hard on moonshiners during May, seizing 804 stills valued at $325,597.

The Bureau of Internal Revenue announced today that about 780 of the stills were seized in the South, only one in Western states, and just a handful in midwest and Northern districts.

The Alabama, Florida, Georgia and South Carolina district produced the largest number of seizures—368. Seized property was valued at $96,090.

Financially, the best haul was in the New Jersey-Delaware district —only six seizures, but the property was valued at $104,035.

Club Plans Picnic

Seven members and 12 guests of the Eldorado 4-H Club attended the meeting on July 7.

During the evening plans were discussed for a picnic on July 24. Refreshments were served by Vickie Goodrich, hostess.

The next meeting will be Aug. 4 at the school.

'You're Fired' Notices Going Out to 8,500

WASHINGTON (AP) — "You're fired" notices began going out to about half the 17,000 employes of the government's anti-inflation agencies today as a result of the heavy axe Congress applied to appropriation requests.

Economic Stabilizer Roger L. Putnam said his program will be hurt but he would "do the best he can with what we've got."

He said Congress "gave us — and the consumer—an awful kick in the teeth" in providing the agencies with only 60 million dollars compared with the 103 million requested.

A spokesman said 30-day dismissal notices would start going out today.

Declaring that "our powers for maintaining the value of the dollar have been weakened seriously," Putnam said in a statement:

"More than ever we will need the consumers' help in holding down prices by exercising restraint in purchasing. Prices generally are not down."

He said despite the drastic appropriation cut he wanted to make clear "we are not throwing in the sponge and giving up."

He said economic stabilization is so vital to the defense program "all of us . . . are determined to give our best effort to the job."

Congress cut funds for the State Department, the Defense Department, the Treasury, Commerce, Labor, Interior and Postoffice Departments and scores of agencies.

But none was hit as hard as the stabilization agencies, whose 60-million-dollar appropriation led some officials to hint they would recommend junking price-wage controls entirely because they felt it impossible to work with the fund.

The battle over extension of controls was one of the big fights of the 82nd Congress, which adjourned this week. There was a major effort to wipe out the agencies or to reduce their powers to impotence. Congress finally agreed on a 10-month extension and relaxed some controls.

Putnam said after an all-day meeting with his agency heads yesterday that they had agreed to allocate the 60 million dollars proportionately to the original amounts requested.

This would give the Office of Price Stabilization 38 million dollars, the Wage Stabilization Board 8½ million, the Salary Stabilization Board $1,800,000, the Economic Stabilization Agency $372,000, the Railway and Airlines Stabilization Board $83,000 and the Office of Rent Stabilization 11 million.

Congress also allocated special funds for rent administration.

Red China Will Put 5 Percent Of People In War

HONG KONG (AP)—An order from Peiping says that 5 per cent of Red China's total population is going to be taken into the nation's huge armed forces—mainly in the militia.

This 5 per cent order is considered to be more a Red target for propaganda use than actual hope, because the Communists already have far more militia than they have arms and equipment for.

The order says that in the new draft, physically able men from 18 to 35 are to be added to the militia as rapidly as possible.

China's population is generally computed at 450 million. Five per cent of that would be 22½ million. Add that to the 12 to 20 million already in the armed forces and you get possibly 42 million.

It seems out of the realm of possibility for the Chinese Reds to maintain forces, even half-time militia, of that size.

Peiping probably will leave up to provincial and regional governments the amount of expansion their militia can stand.

The exact Chinese Communist military strength is not known. Estimates run up to 20 or 21 million.

The Red Army in the last 18 months was expanded by drafts upon the militia. It probably is between three and four million now.

Regional forces, which serve only in home areas, may run to two million.

Estimates on the militia run all the way from five to 15 million. Most observers think five or six million is correct.

The militia is made up of part-time soldiers. Not all of them are armed and some are poorly trained. Still more important, many have not been safely indoctrinated by the Communists.

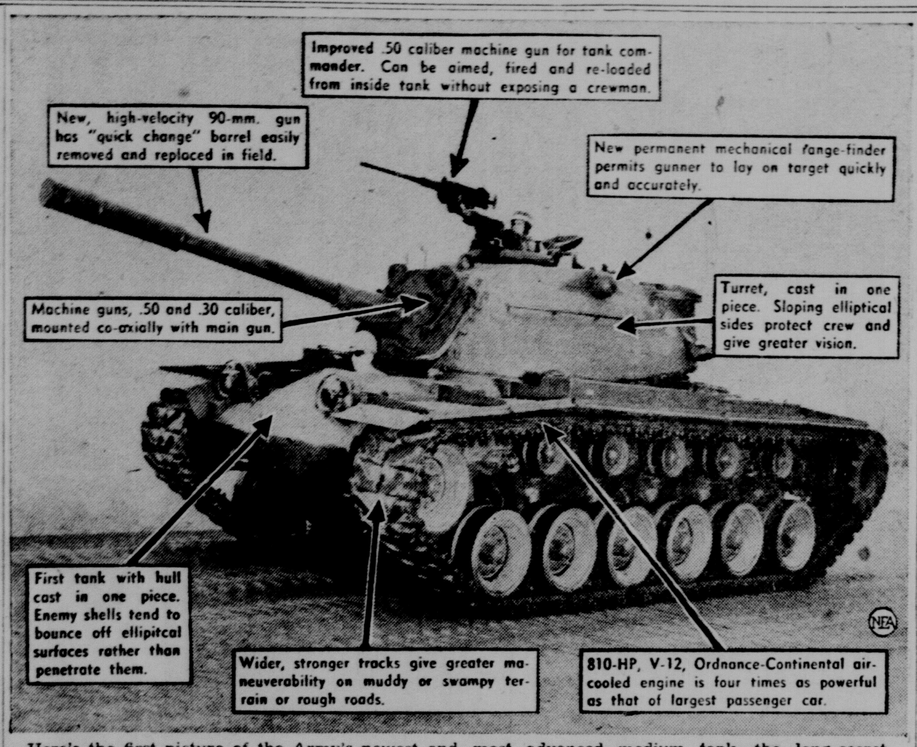
Russians Demand Ransom for Yanks Of Skating Show

BERLIN (AP)—The Russian zone demanded a 90,000 mark ransom ($21,420) today for a convoy of trucks carrying the possessions of an American roller skating show which played to full houses for two weeks in West Berlin.

The East Germans confiscated seven of the eight trucks and permitted only one to go through to West Germany.

All eight had been halted on the Berlin frontier Monday. The 78 Americans in the show flew to the West for an engagement supposed to start in Kiel tomorrow.

The East Germans alleged the trucks were loaded with watches and other items purchased in the Soviet sector of Berlin. All this material has been seized and will not be returned, they said. The remainder of the cargo was assessed by the East for customs purposes at 90,000 west marks.



Here's the first picture of the Army's newest and most advanced medium tank—the long-secret Patton 48. It has just been officially unveiled and officially christened by Mrs. George S. Patton, Jr., at the Chrysler Delaware tank plant at Newark, Del. Most striking characteristics of the 45-to-50-ton monster are its low silhouette and new design, featuring elliptical-shaped hull and turret.

Chinese Couple Leaves UN, Returns to Help the Reds

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Robert Tang and his wife were not happy in the United Nations. The Communist victories in China stirred them strangely and they felt drawn back home to take part in what they regarded as building a great new order.

So Robert Tang and his wife, making U. N. salaries totaling about $1,000 monthly and living quite comfortably in the U. N. community in New York, abandoned everything here and went back home.

That was a year ago. Now reports seeping back to the U. N. through the bamboo curtain say that Tang is in one part of the vast Chinese territory working for the Communists, his wife is working in another section hundreds of miles distant and his wife's father, a Shanghai banker who is believed to have influenced their return, has committed suicide.

Nationalist Chinese in the U. N. 50-odd Chinse working on the U. N. Secretariat staff are sympathetic to the Chinese Red cause but they cannot put the finger on any one U. N. worker because all is quiet here about Mao Tze-tung and his victories.

When the Communist Chinese were sweeping all before them and it appeared they might come to the U. N. to take China's seat, some of the Chinese here were known to brag openly about the new order. But as the Red Chinese were tagged as aggressors and their victories stalled, the Communists became hush-mouthed.

Secretary-General Trygve Lie and his top men, beset from various quarters with charges that the U. N. is a nesting place of subversive and Communists, say they make no effort to ascertain a man's political feelings when he is hired.

The international Secretariat contains men of many beliefs—Democrats, Republicans, Socialists, Communists and others. The U. N. says there is no way of tagging a political label to anyone here — and would not do it if there was one. The Lie people insist the criterion for working here is satisfactory performance. They insist no one has been fired for being a subversive.

One Chinese who acted as interpreter for Red Gen. Wu Hsiu-chuan did not measure up to the standard of work required by the U. N. and was released when his temporary contract expired. Wu came to the U. N. in 1950 on the invitation of the Security Council.

There have been reports that some Chinese now working in the U. N. have returned to the mainland on visits but Chinese sources say there have been only one or two such occasions. These people don't talk about things back at home — it might bring trouble for their families.

NOW, TIDE WASHES CLOTHES WHITER THAN YOU CAN BLEACH THEM!

It's a new Tide miracle!

Whiter washes—with no bleaching! It's true! Tide—used all alone—will actually wash your clothes whiter than any other washing product with a bleach added. It's washday's big news! Try it—and when you see how much whiter Tide alone gets your clothes, you'll never want to put bleach in the wash water again!

Cleaner clothes, too! When you rinse out a Tide wash you've got cleaner clothes than any woman will get with any soap of any kind. Millions of women have proved it. No soap known will get out so much grimy dirt, yet leave clothes so free of dulling film! There's nothing like Tide for washday miracles!

The wash test proves TIDE washes whiter—you can see the difference!

Take any soap or "detergent" you like—make your suds and add your bleach—then wash a load of white clothes. Wash a second load in Tide suds alone . . . then compare the two loads. The Tide-washed clothes will be so much whiter, you'll be amazed! From now on, you just needn't bother with bleaching except for stubborn stains.

TIDE is milder for hands than any other leading "detergent." So safe for washable colors!

YES! With all its cleaning and whitening action, Tide has an amazing new mildness. Not even the mildest "detergents" made especially for dishwashing are so kind to hands as Tide!

ACTUALLY BRIGHTENS COLORS! For dramatic proof of Tide's wonderful safety, watch soap-dulled colors come brighter after just one Tide wash. Tide really cares for clothes and colors just as it does for your hands.

AND TIDE IS SO THRIFTY TO USE! Such a little Tide makes such oceans of rich, long-lasting suds . . . goes so far in hardest water, it's a miracle of economy.

"No more bleach for me! I saw my wash come whiter with Tide alone!"

says Mrs. Helen D. Larsen of New Canaan, Conn.

"Wonderful Tide's done it again! I couldn't believe it till I tried it, but one wash proved it to me! I saw my white things come whiter with Tide alone than I ever got them before when I used a bleach in the wash water!"

NO OTHER WASHING PRODUCT CAN PROMISE ALL THIS!

WASHES CLOTHES WHITER THAN YOU CAN BLEACH THEM!

GETS CLOTHES CLEANER THAN ANY SOAP OF ANY KIND!

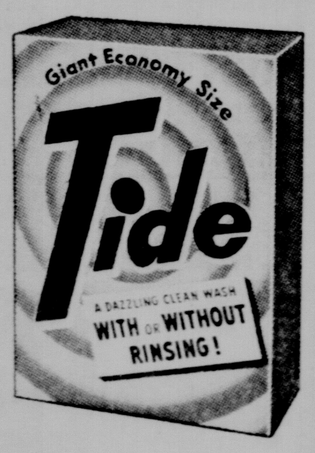
MILDER FOR HANDS THAN ANY OTHER LEADING "DETERGENT"!



NO WONDER TIDE IS THE WORLD'S FAVORITE WASHDAY PRODUCT!

Returns Home For 1st Visit In 13 Years

By Mrs. Thomas W. Miller

TIPTON — Back in his home town for the first time since 1939, Norman J. Roark, his wife and daughter, Susan, 12, arrived Saturday to be here a week with his mother, Mrs. James E. Roark, and aunt, Miss Ava Renshaw.

Norman went to Los Angeles in 1923 and that place has been his home since. He engages in public accounting.

There is another child in the family, a son, John, 17, who at present is on a motor trip through the country.

Norman's brother, William Roark and wife, are expected to arrive this week from Memphis, Tenn., for a Tipton visit.

Norman and William have another brother, Jeff, who is a member of the corporation of the Packer Publications. Jeff and his family reside in Los Angeles.

Major and Mrs. Ollie Tracy and daughters, Joellyn, 7, and Laura, 3, spent Monday and Tuesday here as guests in the home of Major Tracy's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Stratman. They were enroute to San Francisco, Calif., from where major Tracy will embark for Tokyo, Japan. His family plans to join him later, but for the present will live at San Francisco.

Having been in artillery school at Ft. Sill, Okla., Major Tracy is being assigned to general headquarters in Tokyo.

Added dinner guests Monday evening of Mr. and Mrs. Stratman were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dawson and daughter, Mary Linda.

Joyce Aileen, the 10 - year - old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benny Hainen, is home from a two-week's vacation - visit with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Penny, of Mission, Kans., who took her on a sightseeing trip to Mexico.

Joyce Aileen was royally entertained on her trip and she lists as among the most interesting places visited were the Guadalata Shrine, the pyramids and the White House at Mexico City.

One Black Market Charge Against American Dropped

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)—One of 17 black market charges against a U. S. Air Force colonel's wife was dismissed today. A prosecution witness denied he had purchased 600 gallons of gasoline ration coupons from her.

But Mrs. Katherine G. Reed, Michigan - born socialite, still face charges that she sold 1,200 gallons worth of gasoline coupons and dealt extensively in black market coffee and currency.

She has pleaded innocent and contends the charges are fabrications and the outgrowth of animosity by former German employes.

Assistant U. S. District Attorney Jerome Silverstein moved that the gasoline count be dismissed after Hans Riezl, a German, testified.

A new electronic pressure gauge, for use in measuring the tiny air pressure remaining in a near-vacuum chamber, is able to detect one molecule of air in a vacuum where only one air molecule remains out of every 10,000 billion originally present.

HE HAS A "HOT FOOT" FOR IKE—There's a long, long trail a-winding between New York and Chicago, and Abraham Nathason, of Brooklyn, N. Y., covered every mile of it on foot. It took the Eisenhower admirer 33 days to tramp the trail leading to the Republican National Convention.

James Bacon in Hollywood---

Fearless Fagan, MGM's Answer To Francis, The Talking Mule

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Comes now MGM's answer to francis the talking mule — Fearless Fagan, the wandering lion.

Unless Hollywood tradition reverses itself, that means you'll be seeing pictures with such titles as these:

"Fearless Fagan in Africa," "Fearless Fagan Takes a Mate" and, of course, "Son of Fearless Fagan."

There is no better, nor more consistent, moneymaker in the business than a series picture with an animal star. Lassie, Rin Tin Tin and now Francis are top examples. Universal - International, the trade reports say, uses Francis to pay off the studio overhead.

MGM press-previewed "Fearless Fagan" the other day and introduced Pfc. Floyd Humeston, the real life owner of Fagan. Although Carlton Carpenter and Janet Leigh were co-starred, it was Fagan's picture. One critic quipped that he would give it a "four roar" rating. Another called Fagan the movie's best grunter since the late Wallace Beery.

But surest sign that the studio is going to give Fagan the buildup is the news that Sidney Franklin Jr., has been upped to producer status.

Young Franklin, until Fagan came along, had only been an assistant to producer Gottfried Reinhardt.

But about a year ago, Franklin read the headlines about Humeston and his wandering lion. The army had drafted Humeston and he insisted on carting Fagan off to Ft. Ord with him in direct violation of Army regulations.

The story grew as Fagan was shipped to Columbus, O., and back to Venice, Calif.

That's where Franklin found Humeston. He says the young soldier admitted he was toying with the idea of going over the hill with Fagan unless he could find a good home for the beast.

Franklin piled Humeston and Fagan into his car and took off. With the help of writer Eldon W. Griffiths, the Fearless Fagan story was practically written on the spot.

"I'll never forget that ride," Humeston recalls. "People would do the silliest double takes when we'd stop at a signal light and they'd spot old Fagan sitting there in the back seat."

"We even had more fun than that," Franklin added. "We showed up at a cocktail party that night with Fagan on a leash. Quite a sensation, even for Hollywood."

Missed Bus Caught

WEBSTER CITY, Ia. (AP) — When Ethel Swanson and Edith Jensen missed the double-deck bus at Piccadilly in London last summer, they forgot to throw away the unused tickets.

Recently when the touring London busses arrived here, the Misses Swanson and Jensen hailed the caravan's motor cycle escort at the edge of town.

Then they proffered their June 10, 1951 tickets and were escorted aboard — finally catching a bus they missed a year ago and 5,000 miles away.

HERE'S WHAT "MAN IN THE MOON" WOULD SEE—If there were someone on the moon, here's an artist's conception of how a space ship from earth would appear to him, as it came in for a landing. The dome of the sky-theater has been converted to resemble the interior of a space ship.

First Daily Overland Stage Started from Missouri In '61

INDIAN ATTACKS were one of the worst hazards which threatened the Overland Mail stagecoaches.

First Daily Overland Stage Started From Missouri

It took the first daily overland mail coach 17 days to get from St. Joseph to San Francisco after leaving on July 1, 1861.

The overland coaches operated successfully that summer and autumn, unmolested by Indians, but winter brought vast difficulties. Mountain roads drifted full of snow, and teams occasionally got off the track and were lost. Deep, stiff mud made an empty coach a full load for a team, and passengers often had to walk. It is even said that mail bags full of government documents were used to fill holes in the worst patches of the road.

Complaints poured in about the slow and irregular mail service. Letters were often 30 to 40 days enroute, and newspapers frequently reached their destination in a bedraggled and almost illegible condition. Indian depredations added to the difficulties, but the Overland Mail Company under the direction of Ben Holladay continued to operate.

The stage coach used was of the Concord type, described by Mark Twain as "an imposing cradle on wheels." Each coach cost $1000 and was drawn by four to six well-matched horses of excellent stock. The driver, a picturesque character perched upon his high seat and brandishing a whip, was an imposing figure to which every hostler and station keeper along the way bowed down. Most of the drivers were "warm - hearted, kind, and obliging," and managed to keep passengers in good spirits despite the inconveniences of the journey. They had one sure way of quieting peevish passengers — by yelling "Indians."

Stage coach service was from the first regarded as a temporary expedient, and by 1866 the transcontinental railroad was making headway. As the road advanced westward, the stage terminus receded accordingly, and in the latter part of 1866 Holladay disposed of his entire Overland Mail holdings to Wells, Fargo and company. By 1869 the "Magnificent Concord coach" had become "the terrible rattling stage," and when the Union Pacific spanned the continent, the overland stage coach was replaced forever.

4-H Clubs Will Be Hosts to City C of C at Picnic

Business and civic leaders of Sedalia will be guests of the 4-H clubs of Pettis County at a picnic which will be held at Liberty Park on July 24 at 7:30 p. m.

The 500 members of the 32 clubs are giving the picnic in appreciation of what the business and civic leaders of Sedalia have done for them. Letters, signed by L. H. Archias Jr. chairman of the agricultural committee of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, have been mailed to Chamber of Commerce members inviting them to the picnic. An enclosed post card, if the C. of C. member plans to attend, may be mailed back to the Chamber of Commerce before July 15. The tickets for the picnic will be distributed July 16.

A short program is planned preceding the basket dinner and the event will end with a square dance.

All 4-H members will be given free swims.

Reds Stress Antarctic Work

MOSCOW (AP) — The Russians regard themselves as the discoverers of the Antarctic. There is no doubt in their minds. They say that Russian sailors, back in 1820 sailed right to the shores of the Antarctic continent.

That part of the world, of course, bears many Russian names from their adventures there years ago and, according to present day Soviet historians, other parts of the continent would still have Russian names if foreigners hadn't changed them.

A new book has been published here which relates a lot about the part played in the discovery of the Antarctic by the Russians. It's by A. V. Sokolov and E. G. Kushnarev and it's called, "M. P. Lazarev's Three Voyages Around the World."

Odds and Ends By News Staff

A man and his young son went frog hunting recently with two other men. They parked the car and the man and his son went to a certain spot to frog hunt while the other two men went on farther up the stream.

It was a great sport and the man and the boy were having a good time then the father noticed that his light was getting dim and he thought he had better get back to the car before it got worse, so the two of them started out to find the car which they couldn't do. They walked and they walked — but — they knew one thing, if they couldn't find the car they were walking in the direction of Sedalia and they would eventually get home even if it was about 14 miles away.

"We walked about seven miles" said the father in telling the story, "And" he said, "If it hadn't been a clear night I guess we would have been walking yet."

"The boy" he said, "Looked up at the sky and saw the north star — and we discovered we had been walking in the wrong direction all the time — we were getting farther and farther away."

Those listening laughed.

"What's so funny about it" asked the boy walking up to the group.

"It wasn't funny then" said someone, "But isn't it funny now?"

"It sure isn't" said the boy, "I'm still tired" — he hadn't even got rested after several days — and he still didn't want to talk about it. The next time anybody says frog hunting to him he just won't be the least bit interested.

.H L

A woman who lives in a nearby community came to Sedalia one day recently and bought a few things at the grocery store. Among the groceries were butter and lard, and, it being such a hot day she thought they might melt if put in a sack so she asked the grocer to put them in a box for her. This he did — a great big box although the groceries were very few.

So, the woman picked up the great big box and started down the main drag — when she got along to where there was a vacant building she had a terrible feeling — she knew she was losing something and if she didn't do something quick she was going to be in a very embarrassing predicament.

About that time she saw her uncle coming down the street and she tried to get him to hold the box while she went in the building to make her clothes secure — but the uncle was up in 80 and the box was so big that she just couldn't talk him into it and all the time she could feel something slipping off of her a little more and a little more.

Then along came a man she knew — a Sedalia business man — just walking unsuspectingly down the street. As he approached the woman he suddenly found himself holding a huge box and the woman dashed into the empty building.

The man just stood there holding the box—a little dazed over the whole affair, and im a minute out came the woman smiling a bit and a little red in the face — "Thanks" she said, taking the box — "I was losing something." . HL

One day recently a car drove into a filling station for gas and the woman in the car got out and went in the restaurant at the station.

The man, after having his car taken care of, got in and drove off. A few minutes later the wo- carrying two hamburgers — looked around — saw the car was gone and asked the station attendant where the man had gone.

"He just drove off", said the station attendant.

"Well, what am I going to do now?" asked the woman with the hamburgers.

"We can notify the highway patrol", said the station attendant, "What's the license number?"

"I don't know what the license number is", said the woman, and right now she started moving. She went down to another filling station a short distance away.

About two and a half hours later the man drove up to the filling station again and called to the attendant:

"Where's my woman?"

The attendant said: "She is at the filling station in the next block."

"You know", said the man, "I drove half way to Springfield before I realized she wasn't with me" — then the man went on to explain, "I thought she was asleep in the back seat."

The woman was very, very large and the station attendant and others there didn't quite understand how he could have not have known whether or not she was in the back seat — she certainly wouldn't be easy to overlook.

The man thanked the station attendant and drove on to the other station — where — sure enough — his woman was waiting. She got in and they went merrily — or maybe not so merrily — on their way. H. L.

"What happens to people when they die?" asked a small girl of a woman friend.

"Why they take them out to the graveyard and bury them," said the woman. "You have seen the graveyard, haven't you?"

"Oh, I know about that", said the child. "But what becomes of their lives."

That was the $64 question and the woman, like all of us, didn't exactly know the answer. "Why don't you ask your Sunday school teacher", advised the woman trying to get out of a bad situation.

The next time she saw the child the woman asked: "Did you ask your Sunday school teacher what becomes of the lives of people when they die".

"Yes", answered the child.

Curious as to what the teacher had said the woman continued: "What did she say?"

"She said", answered the child, "Everybody be quiet now — we're going to sing." . HL

Eisenhower Can't Be Sure If Dewey Is Asset or Liability

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

CHICAGO — Inside the smoke-filled rooms — the politically naive Mr. Eisenhower can't quite be sure whether his friend, Gov. Tom Dewey, is an asset or a liability. Probably a little of both. Dewey has one of the smoothest working political machines in the country and he personally helped woo and win Pennsylvania delegates for Ike. His friend, Herbert Brownell, also did a skillful job of directing strategy. But Dewey has built up much ill will inside the Party and this boomeranged somewhat against Ike. . . .Enmity against Dewey boiled inside his own New York delegation at its first caucus when the Governor tried to whip his delegates into line. "I'm going to be Governor for another two and a half years," Dewey warned the men who must depend on him for favors. "If you think that Taft has a steamroller, wait until you see our steamroller operate.". . .Despite this whipcracking, some New Yorkers bolted to Taft.

TAFT EFFICIENCY — Seldom has there been such efficient organization for a political convention as that of Senator Taft's. His Democratic Colleague from Georgia, Sen. Dick Russell, has two observers at Chicago, Bill Primm and John Connelly, who are greatly impressed. . .Taft has five different cross-indexes of every delegate in Chicago. Here they are: Index No. 1 gives the name of every delegate and also the name of every one of the Taft Big 4 who should contact them. The Taft Big 4 are Ben Tate of Standard Brands, Tom Coleman of Wisconsin, Dave Ingalls, and Taft himself. This Index also has a red tab on each card showing whether the delegate has been contacted within the past 24 hours. Shortly after he arrived in Chicago, Taft himself sat down and began phoning delegates allotted to him to make sure they weren't slipping to Ike. . . .Index No. 2 gives the names of the family doctors of delegates. This potent piece of political intelligence is reported to have come from the American Medical Association and permits Taft leaders to work on delegates through their family doctors. . . .Index No. 3 is the smallest of all and lists Eisenhower delegates who are wavering. Only 14 were in this file at the start of the Convention. . . .Index No. 4 lists uncommitted delegates, while Index No. 5 gives the Party case-history of every delegate. This is the most important of all. It tells when a delegate joined the Republican Party, how he has voted, whether he likes the theatre, good food or liquor, who his friends are, and even contains a map of his district. Thus functions the efficient Taft machine.

CONVENTION MONEY — There's more money, more entertainment flowing around this Convention than any before. Both sides are taking delegates out to dinner and to the theatre in droves. Almost anything they want is theirs . . . .Henry Ford II has his yacht anchored just off Michigan Boulevard where wavering delegates are entertained. Ford is for Ike, and has reached as far away from Michigan as Virginia to woo delegates for his candidate. . . .Ford also brought in 150 svelte Mercurys and Fords in cream and blue to put at delegates' disposal. . . .Young and Rubicam, New York Advertising Firm, has been masterminding the Eisenhower publicity campaign. . . .Every train arriving in Chicago with delegates, newsmen or anyone else was met by Eisenhower enthusiasts. They beat drums, hammered tambourines, pinned on buttons. "We're glad you're for Ike," exclaimed beautiful girls, just taking it for granted.

HOTELS AND HOSPITALITY — The Conrad Hilton Hotel asked the two leading candidates for the customary advance deposit on their rooms three weeks before the Convention opened. Taft came through the next day with $5,000, but Ike's people begged off, said they were hard up. At the last minute, just before festivities started, Eisenhower came through with a deposit for $12,000 — two and a half weeks late. . . .Rooms weren't so scarce as expected. A lot of people engaged two rooms, figuring they might need extra space. Then at the last minute they canceled the extra reservation. . . .Chicago police had plain-clothes men checking Convention galleries to look for hidden microphones so there won't be a repetition of the Willkie boom when hidden mikes were used to whoop it up for Willkie. . . .Though Ike and Stassen are considered kindred political spirits, friction developed when Herbert Brownell, an Ike leader, failed to keep an appointment with a Stassen leader. The latter scribbled a note: "To Hell with you and your whole Eisenhower crowd."

WHO'S WHO AT CHICAGO — Everybody and their brother came to Chicago, including non-Republicans and some who have never even voted. . . .Two suspicious characters seen in the background are Matt Connelly, the White House Secretary, and Leslie Biffle, Senate Secretary and Chief Braintruster for Vice-President Barkley. . . .Other visitors: Oscar Levant, the piano-humorist; Joe Kennedy, the ex-ambassador to London and most of his family (once a Democrat, he's now leaning toward the Republicans); Mac Krindler of the famed Restaurant 21; Elizabeth Arden; Courtney Espil, wife of the ex-Argentine ambassador; Perle Mesta; Jimmy Durante; Earl Wilson, The Saloon Reporter; John Wayne, The Cowboy Actor; Irene Dunne, a Hollywood delegate for Taft; Hedda Hopper, and Clare Boothe Luce.

BACKSTAGE STRATEGY — One of the most effective moves backing up Eisenhower was the petition by 24 Governors at Houston against the so-called "Steal" of Southern delegates. This was strictly "Made in Denver," and the man who masterminded it was Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas, a former governor, he called the GOP Governors in Houston, got them to sign the petition. . . .When the Taft people moved into their headquarters at The Hilton Hotel they found Bob Allen's assistant, Paul Scott, occupying a room right in the middle of their extensive layout. It meant that Scott could watch everything the Taft delegation did — a wonderful spot for a newsman. Taft people asked Scott to move: he politely declined. What newsman wouldn't?. . .Republican National Committee is so touchy on the subject of secrecy that it even refused to let TV cameras focus on the outside of the committee-room door. TV producers wanted to show the locked door, but sensitive GOPeers said no. . . .Sen. Gene Millikin of Colorado and ex-speaker Joe Martin both called on Eisenhower early in the Convention to try to heal GOP wounds. Millikin wanted to consult regarding the GOP foreign-affairs plank. Martin assured Ike that the question of seating Southern delegates would be brought up before the entire Convention on the first day, not wait until later — as some Taft people desired. . . .Eisenhower, who never attended a political convention before in his life, is learning fast.

Stake Horse

By Larry Sternig

Copyright 1952 by NEA Service, Inc.

X

AT lunch with some of the other owners at the club house, Johnny learned that the Stakes would be run. The purse, in a stake race, is a total of all the entry fees plus what money the track management might care to add. Johnny's money was in it now, and it had been a considerable sum. He couldn't back out, despite Bella's slim chances, despite the knowledge that it was dangerous business running a horse that fears sticky tracks.

"Break her early; try to get the jump," Johnny told Rusty. "Maybe she can hold the pace. It's a bad day to go around."

That's the way Rusty tried to play it. He did succeed in getting the jump on them at the barrier, and Bella led for almost a furlong.

On the south turn, Carolina King went by. In the backstretch, two more. Johnny watched it all bleakly, feeling no surprise, nor any disappointment greater than he had experienced before. The whole Atwater season had been unfortunate for him.

Bella was running sixth at the wire.

He went down to the stables to wait for Rusty. The jock looked heart-broken. He said, "I gave her all I had, Mr. Hamilton."

"I know, Rusty. I'm—quitting. I can take just so much of this kind of luck."

He drove to town. At the telegraph office he sent Goodhue a wire telling him that he was ready to sell out. Then, after considerable thought, he sent Nystrom a plan of action with instructions to follow through on the deal with Goodhue.

It was a chance shot; a crazy idea, but if his plan worked, there might be something he could save.

Kovalt didn't put in an appearance. But his trainer did, the afternoon of the next day. He had three stable hands with him.

He had a letter from Goodhue, and one from his employer. He was to pick up the horses Kovalt had chosen. Goodhue had the notes.

Challenger was the first to be led out. Then Bella, Annabella, Melody, and a few of the cheaper horses. The trainer came over to Johnny's car.

"That'll do it, Mr. Hamilton." He smiled. "I'm glad you could save something. I knew your dad; I knew him well. This isn't a pleasant task, but it's my job—for the time being."

"He isn't taking Adonis?" Johnny asked hopefully.

The man shook his head. "Not after what he learned about the colt." Then he smiled again. "There's just an off-chance you may have put one over. Adonis looks fine to me. But I was told that Kovalt would do all the thinking."

THEY won a couple at Meadowbrook. Not much in the way of purses. And nothing that would add to the prestige of his small stable. But wins, just the same, and good for the ego. Johnny managed, during the busy days, the long nights, to keep his mind from Carol and her perfidy. But he slept very little.

At Meadowbrook he got a wire from Nystrom: "Entries close for Pioneer in two days. Will have to stay here awhile."

The Pioneer Handicap, the biggest money event of the year, would be run in California, in a month. There was only one horse in the stable Nystrom could have meant for that one. There was, for that matter, only one stake horse left in the Hamilton stable—Adonis.

The entry fee was terrific, but Johnny scraped it up. Which left him down to bedrock. He explained it all to Rusty. He said, "I haven't bet a dime since we opened here, Rusty. But these kind of purses aren't going to get us to California."

Rusty agreed. "I've been thinking of that. And I've been thinking of Lady Luck."

Lady Luck was a five-year-old mare who'd run in a couple of $3,000 claimers that season, with little success.

Johnny said, "You were thinking we could drop her down a couple of notches?"

"And bet our shirts. It's a hunch. Lady Luck doesn't really belong up there with those three grand goats, and I can do it, honest, Mr. Hamilton, I can do it." The jock paused, out of breath.

"I believe you can, too," Johnny said. "But my shirt is about all I have left to bet."

He sold a horse, the chestnut two-year-old he'd hoped would develop into a winner. He got five thousand for her. He and Rusty began to look for a spot. Two days later they entered Lady Luck in a $2,000 claiming race for three-year-olds and older.

There wasn't, it developed, as much play on Lady Luck at the mutuels as they thought there'd be. Saving feed money, Johnny spread most of the money three ways; the mechanics of the mutuels are such that the three money slots are not always proportionate.

It was a quiet field; there was little trouble at the barrier.

• • •

AN owner sitting next to Johnny said, "You're cute, dropping a hot one like Lady Luck in there. But that Hooligan of mine is a sleeper, I don't mind telling you—now that the mutuels are closed."

"Nice time to tell me," Johnny said. He looked out at the lank gelding, Hooligan, and added, "He doesn't look like much to me."

The owner smiled. "For money—he doesn't look like much?"

Johnny's pride was being prodded. "For a thousand."

The owner didn't blink an eye. "For a grand. Just between the two of them, Lady Luck and Hooligan."

It was all the money Johnny had.

Bob Thomas In Hollywood---

Movie Industry Has Home For Its Needy Sick and Aged

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Some 20 miles from Hollywood and Vine, nestled in rolling hills at the far lies a little publicized paradise where the movie industry cares for its needy sick and aged.

The setting is a 60-acre tract of citrus and walnut groves. Its heart is a cluster of low, modernistic buildings surrounded by lawns, lily ponds and beds of dazzling flowers. The landscaping requires the attention of six gardeners.

For the sick there is a $1,350,000 hospital and a convalescent home. The hospital has 40 private rooms, each fronting on a balcony overlooking a garden.

It employs a resident physician and has specialists on call.

Patients are treated, without cost for as long as necessary. Some have been under care for as long as eight years.

For the aged — minimum age is 60 for men, 65 for women — there is the Motion Picture Country House. No "poor house" this. Its 30 "guests' occupy private cottages, similar to those of luxury resort hotels. Like the hospital rooms, the cottages have picture windows fronting on gardens. They are comfortably furnished and have private baths and maid service. There are double cottages for married couples.

A central building contains a large library, a sumptuous, television-equipped lounge, and a dining room which serves food described recently by three visiting Britishers as the best they tasted in this country.

The guests receive not only room and board but clothing, a weekly allowance, movies twice a week, station wagon service to Hollywood and occasional trips to town to see touring plays.

Guests are encouraged to live as they would in their own homes. There is no bar, but drinking in rooms is not frowned upon. Some tend private gardens. A few of the women sell needlework.

Names of the guests are kept confidential, but it is no secret that many well-known personalities of yesteryear have spent their final days in the home. Maurice Costello, matinee idol of silent films, died there. Current residents include writers, two once-prominent actresses, and a former leading man.

Both the house and the hospital are supported by the Motion Picture Relief Fund, which helps more than 7,000 film workers yearly. Hospital revenue comes from salaries in every branch of the industry. Those earning less than $200 weekly contribute one half of 1 per cent, those earning more give 1 per cent. About 60 per cent of the industry is signed up, but any worker with four years of experience is eligible for aid.

Support for the country house has come from the Screen Guild Players radio show, which had run 14 years until it left the air for good last month. Stars and studios had contributed services for the show. Its demise has thrown fund officials into a state of quiet consternation, but so far they have found no substitute source of income.

The relief fund is headed by Jean Hersholt, in his 16th year as president. Its principal activities are providing immediate medical care to the needy, and making loans to those in financial difficulties. It extracts a promise from the recipient to repay when he is able. The percentage of return, however, is low.

The distribution of milk in the United States involves about 190,000 motor trucks alone, not including the extensive use of railroad transportation.

Truman Eyes GOP Confab With Delight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman is sitting in on the Republican National Convention — by television. He's probably seen more of some major Chicago activities than have the GOP candidates right on the scene.

So far, he says he's happy over what he's witnssed of inter-party wrangling, but is "worried" over indications his favorite candidate —Robert A. Taft—" is going to get beat."

Television has covered not only developments on the convention floor and all major speeches, but also several committee meetings.

Truman has been watching on a large-screen TV set in the White House. Aides said he "tore himself away from television" yesterday to greet Secretary of State Acheson, returning from a tour of Europe and South America.

The GOP candidates for the presidential nomination, on the other hand, undoubtedly have been too busy with private conferences and other business to watch much television.

What does the President think about the convention so far? From what he told reporters and State Department officials yesterday, it shapes up like this:

For one thing, he enjoyed the committee wrangling. With obvious relish, Truman said he observed that the Republicans "did all the quarreling they could in committee."

Such committee meetings, to settle arguments over contested delegats, have been thrown open to radio and television for the first time.

Regarding Taft, to whom he has referred repeatedly as his "favorite" GOP candidate because he believes he's easiest to beat, Truman said with a grin:

"I'm worried. It looks like my favorite candidate is going to get beat."

Truman's trip to the airport apparently caused him to miss the address yesterday by Sen. Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin, a bitter critic of the administration.

Reporters asked the President whether he had anything to say about "the mistakes of the Acheson-Truman-Lattimore party described in Chicago by Sen. McCarthy."

Truman, his good humor vanishing, snapped that he didn't know anything about that. He added:

"But if McCarthy said it, it's a damned lie, you can be sure of that."

Shade For Sale

AYDIN, Turkey (AP) — The municipal council of this western Turkey town has sold at auction the shade of a giant mulberry tree in the main square.

Sherbet and food vendors were seeking the spot to set up their stands for the summer. The council decided to give the permit to the highest bidder. A sherbet salesman won with a bid of $90.00 for the season.

Greets His New 'Son' By Getting Launch To Go Out to Ship

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Victor Beauchamp was so anxious to greet his new "son" that he used a launch to reach the liner President Wilson.

Aboard, he located Kim Yoon Joong, 16-year-old Korean War orphan.

Beauchamp extended his hand. Then they embraced. A grin spread across each face.

At the dock they were greeted by Mrs. Beauchamp. She gave Kim a hug and a kiss.

"It's been a long time, a very long time," she said.

The Beauchamps' son, Victor Jr., 22, a machine gunner with the 8th Cavalry Regiment, had met him in Korea. He wrote his parents: "Kim is one of the smartest kids I've ever seen." Vic planned to send his young friend to his parents to be educated.

Last October Vic was killed in action.

His parents, after many futile attempts, got in touch with Kim through an American G. I. and arranged for him to come to this country.

30,000 Walnuts Planted

NEWTON, Ia. (AP) — A cooperative effort by some 300 conservation-minded persons recently resulted in the planting of 30,000 walnuts in the Rock Creek Lake State Park.

The walnuts were planted in gently sloping areas on the east and west sides of the lake to eventually provide both shade and beauty. By next year, the seedlings should be about 2 feet tall.

Move to Rid Army Of Its 'Chair Corps'

Whining Dog, Bit Of Flesh Cause Mystery at Mine

SPRING CITY, Mo. (South of Joplin) (AP)— A whining collie dog and a bit of flesh recovered from an abandoned mine shaft provided officers with a mystery today.

It all began Monday when a resident of the neighborhood notified officers he had noticed the dog whining and barking, sitting beside the water-filled shaft. The dog refused to leave.

Their curiosity aroused, the officers began a search of the area about 10 miles south of Joplin. Last night a piece of flesh was recovered from the shaft with a grappling hook.

Doctors at Neosho were unable to say whether it was human flesh and Sheriff Pete Collier of Newton County took it to Jefferson City today for analysis by the state highway patrol laboratory.

Shortly before noon today, Ted Atkins, a mine operator who owns the land on which the shaft is located, put on a diving suit and entered the shaft.

Adding to the mystery was a car found abandoned three miles from the mine. The car bore an Oklahoma license plate. Officers were trying to find its owner.

Some fossil kangaroos are believed to have weighed as much as small horses and to have had feeding habits similar to those of a horse.

Classic Rewritten On Stage

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — The plot of Rostand's "Cyrano de Bergerac" was partly rewritten by two principal actors in a recent performance here and ended in court. As the critics say, "the motivation was obscure."

Nihat Aybar, the actor in the role of Christian, filed a suit soon after the performance against Cuneid Gokcer, who played the title role, Cyrano. The suit charged that Gokcer roughly treated the actress playing the role of the heroine, Roxane, during a love scene and hurled insults against Aybar on the stage in lines that cannot be found in the dialogue Rostand wrote for Cyrano and Christian.

Masonite Movie Shown to Lions Wednesday Noon

The manufacture of Masonite products was the subject of the Lions Club noonday program at the Bothwell Hotel Wednesday with R. E. Mariner, engineer of the corporation, giving the talk. A motion picture depicting the manufacturing of the product was shown.

Mr. Mariner, prior to showing the picture, gave a brief explanation of Masonite and its various uses. The picture started with the showing of great timber lands, from which the raw materials come for the production of the product and carried it through step-by-step until the production of the final material.

After the picture various samples of Masonite were displayed and samples distributed to the Lion members.

George Curnutt, program chairman, introduced the sepaker.

President E. B. Smith called attention to the club board meeting to be held at the home of James McNeil, 1123 West Seventh, at 8 p. m. Thursday.

The District 26-C convention, to be held Sunday, Aug. 3 at Dalton, was announced. More than 15 Sedalia Lions indicated their intentions to attedn the meeting at which deputy district governors will be elected and zone chairmen will be appointed.
